Head For Hills, Men, It's Rough

Ike And Adlai Blazing Away With Election 3 Weeks Off

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Take to the hills, men. Election is three weeks from Tuesday and things are picking up and getting rough.

The campaign itself began leisurely enough, with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Gov. Adlai Stevenson as polite to each other as members of the same club. That didn't last long enough to be monotonous.

When his opponents started tampering with his prestige, the general, an old Army veteran, started squeezing the trigger.

And Stevenson, who said early in the campaign "I'm getting more aggressive all the time," is getting more aggressive. His digs at Eisenhower aren't gentle any more.

If, all in all, things seem to be getting tangled for the voter, let him wait until the three weeks are up.

Tuesday saw both Adlai and Ike taking potshots in each other's general direction. Here is the way it went:

EISENHOWER swept into Texas on his 62nd birthday calling the Truman administration a "weak-kneed and soft-headed" regime trying to grab control of states' rights.

Openly appealing for Dixie support, the GOP presidential nominee ripped into the Truman leadership as being "power hungry, powermongers, reckless drivers and discredited."

He packed these harsh words into a speech prepared for delivery in Houston as the followup to his hard-hitting states' rights speech in New Orleans Monday night.

In that speech he again supported state ownership of the rich tidelands oil deposits — and he warned against the encroachment of federal government on the rights of the states.

Roaring thousands in New Orleans greeted this assault on the administration, giving him a welcome at least as great as that given Stevenson last Friday.

The Eisenhower command hoped for similar receptions throughout the day in Houston, Waco, Lubbock and San Antonio—from Texans in revolt against the Democratic party and its leaders.

In his Houston speech, Eisenhower praised Texas Atty. Gen. Price Daniel, Democratic senatorial nominee, for his "valiant defense of the rights of your state in its own tidelands."

AND THEN HE said: "He (Daniel) thinks the Texas tidelands ought to belong to Texas. So do I.

"This has been my position since I first looked into this matter in 1948. I have always felt that the titles to these submerged lands should be recognized in the states out to their historic boundaries.

"Not just Texas—all the states. Not just tidelands—all submerged lands within such historic boundaries."

Then Eisenhower said Stevenson favors federal control over the tidelands. "He wants to take over the tidelands and dole out to the states whatever Washington decides you ought to have," he said. "That isn't what I call a fair shake. I call it a shake down."

Out in Casper, Wyo., Stevenson declared that the Republicans "prefer slogans, emotion and confetti" to facing up to their record on the campaign issues of peace and prosperity.

The Democratic presidential nominee, beginning a 6,000-mile flying trip to the West and Texas, voiced a ringing indictment of what he called a long record of "Republican isolationism in foreign affairs and inaction in domestic affairs."

In a speech prepared for a Casper campaign rally, the Illinois governor expressed "sorrow" and "dismay" at the tactics adopted by his Republican opponent.

Asserting that the "Old Guard reactionaries" of the Republican

UN Assembly Meet Opens Under Gloomy Atmosphere

Allies Open Major Thrust Against Reds

2 Chinese-Held Hills Taken By UN Troops In Bitter Battles

SEOUL, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Allied infantrymen lashed out Tuesday with their heaviest ground attack in nearly a year and grabbed portions of two Chinese-held hills on the Central Korean front.

The attacking troops, backed by heavy tank and artillery fire, knocked the Reds off two knobs of Triangle Hill, north of Kumwa. Two miles to the east they swept over a portion of Sniper Ridge. Both hills are about 1,500 feet high.

The initial charge carried the attack force to the crest of Triangle, but the Chinese regrouped and regained the crest.

After trying to scramble back up the sharp shale-covered slope, the UN soldiers abandoned their frontal attack. They began working their way across the nearby hill saddle for a thrust from the east.

A frontline officer said the Triangle is "a very difficult hill to climb, let alone assault."

An estimated Chinese battalion held the crest of Triangle and rolled hand grenades and rocks down the slope. Front reports said Red resistance on Sniper Ridge was considerably lighter.

THE TWIN PEAKS anchor the eastern base of the old Communist Iron Triangle supply and troop massing area. A U. S. Eighth Army officer described them as "very strong outpost positions outside the normal Chinese main line of resistance." They were not part of the main Chinese line.

About 17 miles to the west, South Korean soldiers pushed ahead doggedly in an attack to drive Chinese Communists from their last foothold on White Horse Mountain. The Reds held desperately onto two low knobs on the northwest ridgeline.

The fighting on White Horse has raged for eight days and has cost the Chinese an estimated 10,000 casualties.

Allied warplanes with wing racks full of bombs and rockets peeled off over the battleline and pounded the Chinese.

Front-line reports said fierce bayonet fighting broke out on both White Horse and Triangle.

The attack on Triangle, north of Kumhwa, began when raiding parties crept out ahead in the cold predawn mist. They wiped out several Chinese positions.

Then the main force came.

The first assault carried right to the crest of the hill. But the Reds quickly recovered and pushed back the attackers after a sharp bayonet fight.

• • •

CHINESE reinforcements began to move up from Papa-San Mountain, about 500 yards north of Triangle. Allied artillery observers spotted them and the UN's big guns

Probe Continuing In Hanging Death, Wounding At Whisler

Specialized investigation was continued Tuesday in the fatal hanging of a Whisler woman Monday and the wounding of her husband.

Victim of death by hanging Monday was Mrs. Golda Bushee, 56. Seriously wounded by gunshot was her husband, Edward C. Bushee, 60.

The couple was found in tragic circumstances in their home just south of Whisler in Pickaway County at about 2:15 p. m. Monday.

Bushee was conscious when found and was rushed into Berger hospital, where his condition Tuesday is reported fair.

HIS WIFE was discovered hanging in a small outshed about 30 feet to the rear of the main house.

Coroner Dr. Ned Griner said death resulted from hanging. She suffered a fractured neck.

A possibility of foul play in the tragic findings was being investigated Tuesday by Pickaway County Sheriff Charles Radcliff, aided by the Ohio mobile crime lab of the state bureau of criminal investigation.

Foul play was suspected following discovery of the happenings when authorities were unable to find the weapon used to wound the husband.

AUTHORITIES searched the Bushee home more than an hour for the weapon. It was found later on a stand about two feet from the bed in which the husband had lain. It was covered by two pieces of cloth.

Later, authorities also found a note apparently written by Mrs. Bushee, accompanied by a house key, $200 in cash and jewelry.

Sheriff Radcliff said the note asked that the money and jewelry be given to her daughter, Mrs. George Curtain.

However, reference to a specific item in the pencil-written note indicated to authorities it may have been written some time ago, as long, possibly, as two months ago.

When authorities questioned the husband at the scene, he said he and his wife had sat up late the evening before (Sunday) watching television until about 11 p. m. or 11:30 p. m.

Bushee said he was awakened at about 2 a. m. in the morning when he thought he heard a gunshot.

HE SAID he found blood on his face and thought it might have come from a ruptured blood vessel. Then he said he reached out and shook his wife awake to help him.

Bushee told authorities his wife applied cloths to his wound until about 11 a. m. Monday, when, he said, she went downstairs for help. The house had no telephone.

Finally, the husband said he heard nothing more from his wife after that, not even hearing doors open or close.

Dr. Griner, examining Mrs. Bushee's body at the scene, said death probably occurred in the late morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Bushee worked in a plant operated here by their son, Dean. When they failed to appear for work Monday their daughter, Mrs. Curtain, called neighbors near her parents' home and asked

West, East Chiefs Omit Any Greeting

Free World, Commie Diplomats Slated For Major Clashes Soon

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 14—(AP)—The United Nations General Assembly opened its seventh session Tuesday in an atmosphere of diplomatic gloom contrasting with the shining beauty of the spanking new building on New York's East River.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky sat in front row seats as the retiring Assembly president, Luis Padillo Nervo of Mexico, banged the gavel.

The leaders of the opposing free world and Communist blocks did not greet one another as they entered the $12½ million hall where they will clash during the next few weeks on such subjects as Korea, disarmament, Germany, Austria and independence for Colonial countries.

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri of New York, greeting the delegates from the black marble and pale wood rostrum, admitted the "original optimism and even perhaps some of the goodwill" which hailed the UN seven years ago is now missing.

BUT, HE DECLARED as the representatives of 60 countries in the oval room listened intently, time "has not diminished the hopes which rest with you."

The hall, whose dominant colors are olive green and pale blue, was jammed to its 2,054 capacity. It is the third and last completed building of the $68 million UN headquarters.

Outside the domed assembly building workmen still labored on a tunnel which will help prevent traffic jams such as snarled Central New York Tuesday as delegation limousines snaked into the UN enclave on the East River.

Across First Avenue, anti-Soviet Ukrainians picketed with signs demanding freedom for their homeland from Soviet domination.

Chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin, who was chairman of the committee in charge of constructing the headquarters, hailed completion of the group.

"Let us begin all our work in the name of God," Austin urged, "in order to fulfill the work of this capital of peace."

Austin was followed by UN Secretary General Trygve Lie, who paid high tribute to the internation-

Health Service Aid Sought By Critical Areas

Pike County Expected To Become 25th Now Seeking Hospitals

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(AP)—The U. S. Public Health Service has received 24 requests from critical defense areas for government-financed hospitals, but it only has $2 million to spend on such work.

Another request is expected from the Southern Ohio area in which the Atomic Energy Commission will build a giant new plant. Rep. James Polk (D-Ohio) has started working for a hospital there.

A public health service official told a reporter the money available would hardly cover planning and other preliminary work on all these proposed projects.

In all, there are 208 critical areas eligible for special federal hospital assisance.

The government for a number of years has contributed toward hospital construction in many communities across the nation. These funds, available under the Hill-Burton Act, must be matched by local money.

UNDER THE critical areas program, the government may pay up to the full cost of a hospital, provided (1) It is important to national defense, (2) Local sources cannot raise the money to help pay and (3) There are no Hill-Burton funds available for the project.

Polk has asked President Truman's help in getting a 75-bed hospital for Pike County, the A-plant site, where none now exists.

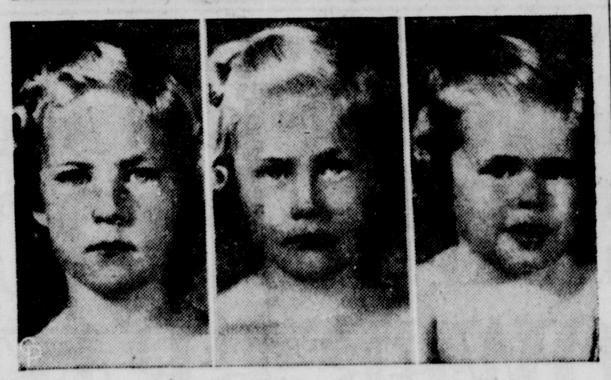

Polk contends the government should pay all or most of the estimated $1½ million cost of such a hospital because local communities in the area don't have money to spend on the project.

The public health service now is conducting a survey of the plant area's hospital requirements.

The service official said no application has yet come in from the plant area for a hospital such as Polk has mentioned.

He indicated Congress may be asked for more money to permit the health service to meet hospital needs in the nation's critical defense areas.

BERTRAND JAMES, Plumas County Attorney, surveys the scene (top) where the bodies of Gard Young, supermarket operator, two of his small daughters and a neighbor boy were found stuffed in the trunk of Young's car in Chester, Calif. Also jammed in the trunk was another of Young's daughters, brutally beaten, but still alive. The unidentified assailant bludgeoned all five and made off with $7,100 which the grocer was carrying back to his store. The three Young children (bottom, l. to r.) are: Murdered Jean and Judy, and Sondra, whose condition is described as critical.

Supersonic Delta-Wing Plane Ordered By Yank Air Force

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(AP)—The Air Force announced Tuesday it has ordered "initial production" of America's first supersonic delta-wing fighter plane, the F102.

The new aircraft will be built by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. (Convair), in San Diego, Calif.

The Air Force said the F102 will resemble in general the Convair-built XF92, the first known delta-wing aircraft to fly. A delta plane is triangular in shape, rougly like a half diamond, and it has no horizontal tail.

"Designed for very high speeds in the stratosphere, the F102 will incorporate significant improvements in armament and electronics," the announcement said.

"Performance and configuration details may not be revealed for security reasons."

The XF92 was built as a research interceptor and has been flown many times since 1948, chiefly at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. It has been in the "high subsonic" speed range, but is reported never to have exceeded the speed of sound.

THE SPEED of sound varies, depending upon temperature, humidity and other factors, from about 760 miles an hour at sea level to 660 at 40,000 feet. An airplane which barely exceeds that speed is in the trans-sonic range. However, the F102 will be definitely supersonic, as are several other Air Force and Navy swept-wing aircraft now flying.

Because it must function as a high-altitude interceptor of enemy bombers, the F102 also will have a terrific rate of climb.

Like all supersonic aircraft it will have complex automatic electronic controls.

These are necessary because the human brain and hands are not quick enough for the split-second responses required when supersonic aircraft approach each other.

Aircraft industry experts guessed the plane might carry guided missiles, to be fired automatically when the interceptor reached the correct distance from a target.

Cavein Of Sand Kills Worker, 24

IRONTON, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Cosper Hart, 24, was removed early Tuesday from a 16-foot cesspool shaft after being trapped by a sand cavein for nearly eight hours. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Lawrence County General Hospital.

Hart was laying brick at the bottom of the pit when sand above his head gave away about 7 p. m. Monday on his father's property in nearby Coal Grove. His father, Clifford Hart, 46, and neighbors jumped in the pit and tried in vain to rescue the youth.

Rockies Feeling Touch Of Winter

DENVER, Oct. 14 — (AP)—There was a touch of winter in the Rocky Mountain region Tuesday with cold weather and snow in some areas.

The Weather Bureau reported two inches of snow at Lander and Casper, Wyo. Snow mixed with rain fell in the Central Rockies. The cold air pushed southward over the Northern Rockies and Northern Plains states and headed into North Central regions.

Ashville Girl Polio Victim

Judith Fosnaugh, 19, of Ashville Route 2, is under treatment for polio at Children's hospital, Columbus.

A diagnosis report on the girl's case was released here by Mayor Ed Amey.

Amey said he understood Miss Fosnaugh was taken to the hospital for tests last Thursday and that diagnosis was received here Tuesday.

Miss Fosnaugh, who graduated from Ashville high school two years ago, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fosnaugh.

School Pupils To Be Guided

A Circleville policeman will be stationed near Circleville high school this week in an effort to reduce hazardous traffic conditions.

Mayor Ed Amey has ordered Officer Charles Smith to stand duty at the school at noon and evening dismissal times.

Smith is to enforce safe street-crossing laws and laws pertaining to the safe operation of bikes and motor-scooters.

The mayor made the move after watching the youngsters dart across Court and Mill streets on foot and their actions on bikes and motorbikes.

Du Pont Ordering Steel To Send Here

Du Pont Corp. has ordered 800 tons of steel at Bethlehem, Pa., for shipment to Circleville, railroad spokesmen here said Tuesday.

Du Pont for some time has had plans to build a plant south of Circleville, but the firm has warned against any rumors that construction will start in the near future.

Actual start of work on the plant, the company said, may be many months in the future.

It was also pointed out that the amount of steel reported ordered at Bethlehem was relatively small for a project as large as the plant to be built here.

Model Airplane Kills Lancasterite

LANCASTER, Oct. 14—(AP)—Joseph E. Green, 24, of Lancaster was electrocuted Monday when two wires he held while controlling a gasoline motored model airplane came in contact with high tension wires.

The accident occurred on a farm nine miles south of here.

2 Men Held After Hit-Skip Mishap, Hitchhike Robbery

XENIA, Oct. 14—(AP)—Two men trying to hitchhike out of Xenia were arrested Tuesday for questioning in connection with a hit-skip accident near Troy involving a stolen car.

A third man, Gene Kelly, 35, of Lima, was found beaten in the cab of a truck police said was stolen in Tipp City, a few miles from the scene of the original accident.

Kelly, reported in fair condition in Springfield City Hospital after minor surgery, told police he was picked up by two men in a truck, robbed and beaten. He was unconscious when police found him.

Police said the truck in which he was found was stolen soon after the Troy accident and that blood was found near the theft scene.

The identity of the two men held in Xenia was not immediately made known.

Xenia police said the man found in Springfield would be brought to view the two men held here.

THE ARRESTS climaxed a manhunt around the wooded area south of Troy in which two airplanes of the State Highway Patrol engaged along with local officials.

The manhunt started after two cars collided on U. S. 25 about 2 a. m. two miles south of Troy. Mrs. Theodore Maxson of Tipp City, in one car, was injured. She was taken to a Troy hospital.

Two men in the other car fled across a cornfield. One of the men apparently was injured.

State highway patrolmen said the car from which the two fled was a 1949 Cadillac coupe registered to Walter Berry of Lima and stolen Monday night from a Lima garage.

Kelly told police he is employed by the Lima Ordnance Depot. He said the men beat him and robbed him of $40 to $50. Kelly said he was hitchhiking when picked up. Hospital officials said they took 18 stitches to close Kelly's wounds.

Lewis Ready To Campaign For Adlai

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14—(AP)—Labor Leader John L. Lewis rolled up his sleeves Tuesday for a personal campaign stump tour for Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson.

Lewis already has charted two quick speeches in West Virginia for Stevenson and the Democratic ticket, and it was plain party leaders only had to ask to get Lewis to invade other states.

The United Mine Workers convention quickly followed Lewis in formally endorsing Stevenson Monday.

The decision of the 72-year-old miners chief put virtually all organized labor in Stevenson's corner. Both the AFL and CIO previously had come out for him.

In his speech, Lewis laid stress not so much on qualities attributed to Stevenson but on criticism of Stevenson's opponent, Republican nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Describing Eisenhower as the candidate of "the country-club aristocracy of America," Lewis wound up with this:

"I care not whether a citizen works in the coal industry or the steel industry or the railroad industry or the manufacturing industry or lives on a farm or works in an office or a counting room.

"I think the interests of all that great mass of Americans are identically placed where all may see in his campaign and they may decide whether they will go on that side of the line and take the professional soldier, Eisenhower, or whether they will go on this side of the line and take the humanitarian, Stevenson.

"For me, I choose Stevenson."

Sparkman Raps Ike's 'Crusade'

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 14—(AP)—Sen. John J. Sparkman, Democratic vice presidential nominee, said here Monday night that the American people will not follow Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "blindly in future crusades."

"They will not stomach a crusade joined in by the McCarthys, Jenners and all the other Republicans who stand for reaction instead of progress," he said. "They will not join a crusade based on fear rather than on faith. They will not join a crusade led by a captive candidate flanked by demolitionists and hatchet men."

Taft Assails Social Trend Of Democrats

CASPER, Wyo., Oct. 14—(AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) assailed the Democratic administration Monday night for what he said was its attempt to force a totalitarian and socialistic form of government on the United States.

Speaking at a Republican rally in Casper on behalf of Gov. Frank A. Barrett, Wyoming senatorial candidate, Taft lashed out frequently at President Truman.

He answered some of the President's recent whistle - stop statements and at one point called one claim of the President a "complete lie."

Taft listed the following campaign issues:

1. Corruption in government, in which he stated, "We have reached the lowest state of political morality in the history of the nation." He reviewed the RFC, Commodity and income tax scandals.

2. The threat of American liberties from a tremendous growth of big government.

3. Foreign policy.

Commenting on a recent statement by President Truman to the effect "that he has cleaned up corruption wherever he found it," Taft said that was a "typical misstatement" of the President.

Referring to President Truman's contention that the Democratic administration had given labor protection and security, particularly railway labor, Taft declared "That is a complete lie."

Parents Jailed; Teach Lad Theft

FREMONT, Oct. 14 — (AP)—The parents of a 14-year-old boy were sentenced to a year in prison Monday for inducing the youth to steal from stores here and in Fostoria.

Juvenile Judge Robert J. Gable ordered Winifrid Prater, 34, sent to the Women's Reformatory in Marysville and her husband, Earl, 32, to the Toledo House of Correction. Mrs. Prater said all the Christmas presents given out by the family last year were stolen by the youth at her insistence.

Girls Pick Men

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Mrs. Mary F. Moulton, 98, and her sister, Mrs. Jennie Hooker, 96, both agree their presidential candidates are good men. Mary is backing Stevenson while Jennie likes Ike.

Nixon Raps Stevenson On Commie Issue

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Sen. Richard Nixon, delivering a major attack on Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson Monday night, called him disqualified for the presidency by his record on Communism.

The Republican vice-presidential candidate asserted on a nationwde radio-television broadcast that the Democratic standard bearer "has failed to recognize the threat" of Communism. He added:

"In my opinion his actions, his statements, his record disqualify him from leading the United States and the free nations in the fight against Communism at home and abroad."

Stevenson's election, the California senator said, "would mean four more years of the same policy which has been so disastrous at home and disastrous abroad."

Nixon attacked Stevenson for his character deposition for Alger Hiss, former State Department official convicted of perjury after he gave out government secrets for a prewar Russian spy ring.

Before Hiss' first trial, several government officials gave character depositions for him.

Stevenson was asked in the deposition what he had heard about Hiss' reputation "for integrity, loyalty and veracity."

He said, "It was good."

The first Hiss trial ended in a hung jury in 1949. He was convicted at a second trial and is serving five years in prison for lying before a federal grand jury.

Dr. Griner, examining Mrs. Bushee's body at the scene, said death probably occurred in the late morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Bushee worked in a plant operated here by their son, Dean. When they failed to appear for work Monday their daughter, Mrs. Curtain, called neighbors near her parents' home and asked

West, East Chiefs Omit Any Greeting

Free World, Commie Diplomats Slated For Major Clashes Soon

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 14—(AP)—The United Nations General Assembly opened its seventh session Tuesday in an atmosphere of diplomatic gloom contrasting with the shining beauty of the spanking new building on New York's East River.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky sat in front row seats as the retiring Assembly president, Luis Padillo Nervo of Mexico, banged the gavel.

The leaders of the opposing free world and Communist blocks did not greet one another as they entered the $12½ million hall where they will clash during the next few weeks on such subjects as Korea, disarmament, Germany, Austria and independence for Colonial countries.

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri of New York, greeting the delegates from the black marble and pale wood rostrum, admitted the "original optimism and even perhaps some of the goodwill" which hailed the UN seven years ago is now missing.

BUT, HE DECLARED as the representatives of 60 countries in the oval room listened intently, time "has not diminished the hopes which rest with you."

The hall, whose dominant colors are olive green and pale blue, was jammed to its 2,054 capacity. It is the third and last completed building of the $68 million UN headquarters.

Outside the domed assembly building workmen still labored on a tunnel which will help prevent traffic jams such as snarled Central New York Tuesday as delegation limousines snaked into the UN enclave on the East River.

Across First Avenue, anti-Soviet Ukrainians picketed with signs demanding freedom for their homeland from Soviet domination.

Chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin, who was chairman of the committee in charge of constructing the headquarters, hailed completion of the group.

"Let us begin all our work in the name of God," Austin urged, "in order to fulfill the work of this capital of peace."

Austin was followed by UN Secretary General Trygve Lie, who paid high tribute to the internation-

Health Service Aid Sought By Critical Areas

Pike County Expected To Become 25th Now Seeking Hospitals

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(AP)—The U. S. Public Health Service has received 24 requests from critical defense areas for government-financed hospitals, but it only has $2 million to spend on such work.

Another request is expected from the Southern Ohio area in which the Atomic Energy Commission will build a giant new plant. Rep. James Polk (D-Ohio) has started working for a hospital there.

A public health service official told a reporter the money available would hardly cover planning and other preliminary work on all these proposed projects.

In all, there are 208 critical areas eligible for special federal hospital assisance.

The government for a number of years has contributed toward hospital construction in many communities across the nation. These funds, available under the Hill-Burton Act, must be matched by local money.

UNDER THE critical areas program, the government may pay up to the full cost of a hospital, provided (1) It is important to national defense, (2) Local sources cannot raise the money to help pay and (3) There are no Hill-Burton funds available for the project.

Polk has asked President Truman's help in getting a 75-bed hospital for Pike County, the A-plant site, where none now exists.

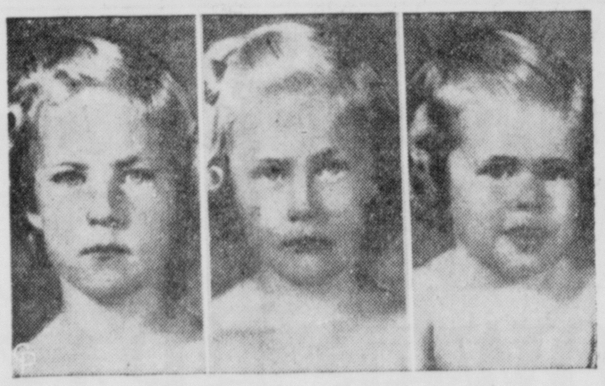

Polk contends the government should pay all or most of the estimated $1½ million cost of such a hospital because local communities in the area don't have money to spend on the project.

The public health service now is conducting a survey of the plant area's hospital requirements.

The service official said no application has yet come in from the plant area for a hospital such as Polk has mentioned.

He indicated Congress may be asked for more money to permit the health service to meet hospital needs in the nation's critical defense areas.

BERTRAND JAMES, Plumas County Attorney, surveys the scene (top) where the bodies of Gard Young, supermarket operator, two of his small daughters and a neighbor boy were found stuffed in the trunk of Young's car in Chester, Calif. Also jammed in the trunk was another of Young's daughters, brutally beaten, but still alive. The unidentified assailant bludgeoned all five and made off with $7,100 which the grocer was carrying back to his store. The three Young children (bottom, l. to r.) are: Murdered Jean and Judy, and Sondra, whose condition is described as critical.

Supersonic Delta-Wing Plane Ordered By Yank Air Force

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(AP)—The Air Force announced Tuesday it has ordered "initial production" of America's first supersonic delta-wing fighter plane, the F102.

The new aircraft will be built by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. (Convair), in San Diego, Calif.

The Air Force said the F102 will resemble in general the Convair-built XF92, the first known delta-wing aircraft to fly. A delta plane is triangular in shape, rougly like a half diamond, and it has no horizontal tail.

"Designed for very high speeds in the stratosphere, the F102 will incorporate significant improvements in armament and electronics," the announcement said.

"Performance and configuration details may not be revealed for security reasons."

The XF92 was built as a research interceptor and has been flown many times since 1948, chiefly at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. It has been in the "high subsonic" speed range, but is reported never to have exceeded the speed of sound.

THE SPEED of sound varies, depending upon temperature, humidity and other factors, from about 760 miles an hour at sea level to 660 at 40,000 feet. An airplane which barely exceeds that speed is in the trans-sonic range. However, the F102 will be definitely supersonic, as are several other Air Force and Navy swept-wing aircraft now flying.

Because it must function as a high-altitude interceptor of enemy bombers, the F102 also will have a terrific rate of climb.

Like all supersonic aircraft it will have complex automatic electronic controls.

These are necessary because the human brain and hands are not quick enough for the split-second responses required when supersonic aircraft approach each other.

Aircraft industry experts guessed the plane might carry guided missiles, to be fired automatically when the interceptor reached the correct distance from a target.

Rockies Feeling Touch Of Winter

DENVER, Oct. 14 — (AP)—There was a touch of winter in the Rocky Mountain region Tuesday with cold weather and snow in some areas.

The Weather Bureau reported two inches of snow at Lander and Casper, Wyo. Snow mixed with rain fell in the Central Rockies. The cold air pushed southward over the Northern Rockies and Northern Plains states and headed into North Central regions.

Cavein Of Sand Kills Worker, 24

IRONTON, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Cosper Hart, 24, was removed early Tuesday from a 16-foot cesspool shaft after being trapped by a sand cavein for nearly eight hours. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Lawrence County General Hospital.

Hart was laying brick at the bottom of the pit when sand above his head gave away about 7 p. m. Monday on his father's property in nearby Coal Grove. His father, Clifford Hart, 46, and neighbors jumped in the pit and tried in vain to rescue the youth.

Du Pont Ordering Steel To Send Here

Du Pont Corp. has ordered 800 tons of steel at Bethlehem, Pa., for shipment to Circleville, railroad spokesmen here said Tuesday.

Du Pont for some time has had plans to build a plant south of Circleville, but the firm has warned against any rumors that construction will start in the near future.

Actual start of work on the plant, the company said, may be many months in the future.

It was also pointed out that the amount of steel reported ordered at Bethlehem was relatively small for a project as large as the plant to be built here.

Model Airplane Kills Lancasterite

LANCASTER, Oct. 14—(AP)—Joseph E. Green, 24, of Lancaster was electrocuted Monday when two wires he held while controlling a gasoline motored model airplane came in contact with high tension wires.

The accident occurred on a farm nine miles south of here.

Ashville Girl Polio Victim

Judith Fosnaugh, 19, of Ashville Route 2, is under treatment for polio at Children's hospital, Columbus.

A diagnosis report on the girl's case was released here by Mayor Ed Amey.

Amey said he understood Miss Fosnaugh was taken to the hospital for tests last Thursday and that diagnosis was received here Tuesday.

Miss Fosnaugh, who graduated from Ashville high school two years ago, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fosnaugh.

School Pupils To Be Guided

A Circleville policeman will be stationed near Circleville high school this week in an effort to reduce hazardous traffic conditions.

Mayor Ed Amey has ordered Officer Charles Smith to stand duty at the school at noon and evening dismissal times.

Smith is to enforce safe street-crossing laws and laws pertaining to the safe operation of bikes and motor-scooters.

The mayor made the move after watching the youngsters dart across Court and Mill streets on foot and their actions on bikes and motorbikes.

Sparkman Raps Ike's 'Crusade'

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 14—(AP)—Sen. John J. Sparkman, Democratic vice presidential nominee, said here Monday night that the American people will not follow Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "blindly in future crusades."

"They will not stomach a crusade joined in by the McCarthys, Jenners and all the other Republicans who stand for reaction instead of progress," he said. "They will not join a crusade based on fear rather than on faith. They will not join a crusade led by a captive candidate flanked by demolitionists and hatchet men."

2 Men Held After Hit-Skip Mishap, Hitchhike Robbery

XENIA, Oct. 14—(AP)—Two men trying to hitchhike out of Xenia were arrested Tuesday for questioning in connection with a hit-skip accident near Troy involving a stolen car.

A third man, Gene Kelly, 35, of Lima, was found beaten in the cab of a truck police said was stolen in Tipp City, a few miles from the scene of the original accident.

Kelly, reported in fair condition in Springfield City Hospital after minor surgery, told police he was picked up by two men in a truck, robbed and beaten. He was unconscious when police found him.

Police said the truck in which he was found was stolen soon after the Troy accident and that blood was found near the theft scene.

The identity of the two men held in Xenia was not immediately made known.

Xenia police said the man found in Springfield would be brought to view the two men held here.

THE ARRESTS climaxed a manhunt around the wooded area south of Troy in which two airplanes of the State Highway Patrol engaged along with local officials.

The manhunt started after two cars collided on U. S. 25 about 2 a. m. two miles south of Troy. Mrs. Theodore Maxson of Tipp City, in one car, was injured. She was taken to a Troy hospital.

Two men in the other car fled across a cornfield. One of the men apparently was injured.

State highway patrolmen said the car from which the two fled was a 1949 Cadillac coupe registered to Walter Berry of Lima and stolen Monday night from a Lima garage.

Kelly told police he is employed by the Lima Ordnance Depot. He said the men beat him and robbed him of $40 to $50. Kelly said he was hitchhiking when picked up. Hospital officials said they took 18 stitches to close Kelly's wounds.

Lewis Ready To Campaign For Adlai

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14—(AP)—Labor Leader John L. Lewis rolled up his sleeves Tuesday for a personal campaign stump tour for Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson.

Lewis already has charted two quick speeches in West Virginia for Stevenson and the Democratic ticket, and it was plain party leaders only had to ask to get Lewis to invade other states.

The United Mine Workers convention quickly followed Lewis in formally endorsing Stevenson Monday.

The decision of the 72-year-old miners chief put virtually all organized labor in Stevenson's corner. Both the AFL and CIO previously had come out for him.

In his speech, Lewis laid stress not so much on qualities attributed to Stevenson but on criticism of Stevenson's opponent, Republican nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Describing Eisenhower as the candidate of "the country-club aristocracy of America," Lewis wound up with this:

"I care not whether a citizen works in the coal industry or the steel industry or the railroad industry or the manufacturing industry or lives on a farm or works in an office or a counting room.

"I think the interests of all that great mass of Americans are identically placed where all may see in his campaign and they may decide whether they will go on that side of the line and take the professional soldier, Eisenhower, or whether they will go on this side of the line and take the humanitarian, Stevenson.

"For me, I choose Stevenson."

Taft Assails Social Trend Of Democrats

CASPER, Wyo., Oct. 14—(AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) assailed the Democratic administration Monday night for what he said was its attempt to force a totalitarian and socialistic form of government on the United States.

Speaking at a Republican rally in Casper on behalf of Gov. Frank A. Barrett, Wyoming senatorial candidate, Taft lashed out frequently at President Truman.

He answered some of the President's recent whistle - stop statements and at one point called one claim of the President a "complete lie."

Taft listed the following campaign issues:

1. Corruption in government, in which he stated, "We have reached the lowest state of political morality in the history of the nation." He reviewed the RFC, Commodity and income tax scandals.

2. The threat of American liberties from a tremendous growth of big government.

3. Foreign policy.

Commenting on a recent statement by President Truman to the effect "that he has cleaned up corruption wherever he found it," Taft said that was a "typical misstatement" of the President.

Referring to President Truman's contention that the Democratic administration had given labor protection and security, particularly railway labor, Taft declared "That is a complete lie."

Parents Jailed; Teach Lad Theft

FREMONT, Oct. 14 — (AP)—The parents of a 14-year-old boy were sentenced to a year in prison Monday for inducing the youth to steal from stores here and in Fostoria.

Juvenile Judge Robert J. Gable ordered Winifrid Prater, 34, sent to the Women's Reformatory in Marysville and her husband, Earl, 32, to the Toledo House of Correction. Mrs. Prater said all the Christmas presents given out by the family last year were stolen by the youth at her insistence.

Girls Pick Men

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Mrs. Mary F. Moulton, 98, and her sister, Mrs. Jennie Hooker, 96, both agree their presidential candidates are good men. Mary is backing Stevenson while Jennie likes Ike.

Nixon Raps Stevenson On Commie Issue

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Sen. Richard Nixon, delivering a major attack on Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson Monday night, called him disqualified for the presidency by his record on Communism.

The Republican vice-presidential candidate asserted on a nationwde radio-television broadcast that the Democratic standard bearer "has failed to recognize the threat" of Communism. He added:

"In my opinion his actions, his statements, his record disqualify him from leading the United States and the free nations in the fight against Communism at home and abroad."

Stevenson's election, the California senator said, "would mean four more years of the same policy which has been so disastrous at home and disastrous abroad."

Nixon attacked Stevenson for his character deposition for Alger Hiss, former State Department official convicted of perjury after he gave out government secrets for a pre-war Russian spy ring.

Before Hiss' first trial, several government officials gave character depositions for him.

Stevenson was asked in the deposition what he had heard about Hiss' reputation "for integrity, loyalty and veracity."

He said, "It was good."

The first Hiss trial ended in a hung jury in 1949. He was convicted at a second trial and is serving five years in prison for lying before a federal grand jury.

September Fair Seen Favored If Schools Promise Their Help

Officials of Pickaway County fair board Tuesday indicated the annual fair will be changed back to September dates in 1953 "if the schools go along with us."

At a meeting of the board Monday night in the fairgrounds coliseum, strong sentiment was expressed for the change, providing it would enable local schools to take an active part in the event.

Spokesmen for city and county school systems were not present, but will confer later this week with a committee appointed by the fair board.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, plans a meeting with the committee Thursday.

IN ADDITION to active participation by the schools, fair board officials hoped to obtain assurance that class schedules would be trimmed during the annual exhibition to encourage attendance by the pupils at the fair.

School leaders will be asked what cooperation they might be able to promise if the far is held either the first or second week of September.

McDowell said the proposed arrangement would be a matter for the individual school superintendents to study, but that he personally would assist in any decisions made.

Henry Reid Jr., secretary of the fair board, said considerable discussion at Monday night's meeting was given to the proposed "free gate" for the county fair.

However, he said, the consensus seemed to be that next year's fair would not be financially able to permit a "free gate," although the change in this respect may be made after 1953.

"The matter was discussed only in a general way and no definite decisions were reached," Reid said. "We're still considering the idea for next year."

APPROXIMATELY 31 persons attended the meeting. The public, and especially spokesmen for various local groups, had been given special invitation to be present.

Reid remnided all interested persons that the fair board has changed the night for its monthly meeting.

Instead of the first Monday of each month the board will now meet on the second Monday, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

American Reds In UN Probe Bogs Down

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 — (AP)—A search for American Communists on the United Nations payroll has been stymied in part by the refusal of five witnesses to answer questions by U. S. Senate investigators.

The five, four present UN employes and one former UN stenotypist — refused Monday to say whether they ever were Communists or whether they knew any Reds in the UN.

All based their refusals on the constitutional grounds of protecting themselves against possible self-incrimination.

The four UN employes questioned by the U. S. Senate internal security subcommittee were Alfred J. Van Tassel, Joel Gordon, Frank C. Bancroft and Stanley Graze. The former employe was Eugene Wallach. All are Americans.

Bancroft, a documents control editor, gave a flat "no" answer when asked if he ever engaged in espionage. The other four wouldn't go that far.

Van Tassel, a $12,840-a-year operations director for the UN Technical Assistance Administration, said it was "deplorable" to hold the hearings as the UN General Assembly was about to open. He said the hearings "will create tremendous resentment among the peoples of Asia, Africa and throughout the world."

Van Tassel insisted that "if we are to be intimidated by our own individual governments, the international organization will disappear."

GRAIN FUTURES

CHICAGO, Oct, 14 — (AP)—Soybeans and grains slanted lower Tuesday on the Board of Trade, largely as the result of heavy receipts over the long holiday weekend.

There was little export business in sight, and some of the trading was the result of higher crop estimate released after Friday's session. During the morning all deliveries of corn, July soybeans and July oats sold at new lows for the season. Lard was the only future to show gains.

At noon wheat was ⅛ to 1⅛ lower than Friday's close, December $2.32⅝. Corn was ⅜ to 1⅜ lower, December $1.64¾. Oats were ⅛ higher to ⅜ lower, December 83¼. Soybeans were 2½ to 3¼ lower, November $2.95½ and lard was unchanged to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher, October $9.07.

Russia Snubs Yank Note On Kennan Ouster

MOSCOW, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Russia has brushed aside America's protest over Soviet treatment of U. S. Ambassador George Kennan, labelling the U. S. note a worthless effort to justify a false, hostile statement by the envoy.

In tones that made it clear Russia considers the Kennan matter closed, the statement branded the U. S. note as a "gross contradiction of fact."

Reporters in Berlin quoted Kennan on Sept. 19 as saying an American diplomat's life in Moscow was much the same as being interned by the Nazis in Germany during World War II. At the time Kennan was en route to a meeting of U. S. diplomats in London.

The interview prompted Pravda, the Communist Party paper, to assail Kennan as guilty of hostile conduct unbecoming an ambassador. The Soviet government then demanded that he be recalled.

Last week a U. S. note said Kennan spoke "accurately and in moderate language" and turned down the Soviet demand, but the envoy did not return to Moscow.

The Russian reply said the American statement on the situation of foreign diplomats in the Soviet Union was "an unconcealed attempt to justify the false and hostile attitude towards the Soviet Union of the former ambassador of the United States, Mr. Kennan."

Rifle Accidents Kill 2 Ohio Lads

COLUMBUS, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Two pre-teen age Ohio boys have been killed in the last two days in rifle accidents.

Two boys who found a rifle in a garage went into a field near Strongsville Monday to test it. On the way, the weapon, which Bernard Szopa, 13, was carrying, fired accidentally and killed Richard Glad, 11.

Louis Crain, 12, of near Warren was killed Sunday when his cousin, Dennis Brownlee, 13, stumbled and his rifle's discharge struck Louis while the two boys hunted crows.

Red Propagandist To Attend Parley

VIENNA, Oct. 14—(AP)—The Kremlin's ace propagandist, author Ilya Ehrenburg, has arrived in Vienna to prepare what world Communism calls the "geatest peace meeting in the history of mankind."

Ehrenburg, it was learned, arrived a few days ago from Moscow to work with Austrian Communists on arrangements for the "World Peace Congress" which opens here Dec. 5.

Investigation Continuing At Whisler

them to look in to see if everything was all right.

Ralph Dresbach, who lives next door to the Bushee house at Whisler, said he went to the house and knocked. He got no answer.

Dresbach said he saw Mr. Bushee's clothes hanging on a chair and the Bushee auto in the garage, and called Mrs. Curtain back.

MRS. CURTAIN and her husband drove to the house and he broke in through a locked back door. They went upstairs and found Mr. Bushee in bed, the bedclothing blood-soaked.

Other persons in the area discovered Mrs. Bushee's body in the outshed. The husband was not notified of his wife's death until much later.

Deputy Carl Radcliff, first official at the scene, said he made a careful search of the bedroom and stated the weapon was not lying on the bedstand when he searched.

The gun was a nickle-plated .32 calibre revolver with five chambers. Two of the chambers were exploded.

Mrs. Bushee was dressed in her night-clothing when discovered.

Sheriff Radcliff said there was no evidence of a struggle and she was found unscratched and unbruised following examination.

Dr. Griner said the case will be continued until technicians with the mobile crime lab have completed investigation and puzzling points in the evidence made clear.

Mrs. Bushee was born March 14, 1896, near Laurelville, daughter of Salem and Martha Haynes Karshner.

She was married to Edward Bushee on her birthday in 1913.

Surviving her are two sons, Dean Bushee of Circleville and Leewood Bushee of Columbus; a daughter, Mrs. Curtain, of Circleville; two brothers, Guy Karshner and Jay Karshner, both of Laurelville; two sisters, Mrs. Clarence Dumm of Pickaway Township and Mrs. Glenn Hamilton of Circleville; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday in Defenbaugh Funeral Home, followed by burial in Forest cemetery.

Friends may call in the funeral home after 1 p. m. Wednesday.

Wage Board Eyes New Coal Pact

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board, promising to act as quickly as possible but making it clear it will not be pressured into a hasty decision, Tuesday began formal deliberations on the bituminous wage contract signed by John L. Lewis and soft coal mine operators.

At least 10 big Illinois mines employing about 5,000 united mine workers were idle as workers quit Monday in protest over what they indicated was delay in government approval of the wage pact. There were signs the walkout might spread.

X-Ray Program Ends; 2,556 Participate

Pickaway County's 1952 free chest x-ray program ended Monday with a total of 2,556 persons participating.

In its final day of operation, the mobile x-ray unit attracted 522 persons from the communities near Williamsport and Ashville.

In the morning, the unit was visited by 226 persons in Williamsport school, while the afternoon session in Ashville school attracted 396 persons.

The free chest x-ray program was sponsored by the Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Association and paid for by the sale of Christmas Seals.

Longer Voting Time Requested

COLUMBUS, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Sen. Joseph W. Bartunek of Cleveland, Ohio, Senate Democratic minority leader, Tuesday asked Gov. Frank J. Lausche to call an immediate special session of the legislature to extend voting hours in the Nov. 4 election.

Bartunek proposed that polls remain open until 8:30 p. m. to handle the record number of voters expected to cast ballots. The law now says polls shall be open from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m.

General Marshall To Shun Election

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—(AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall said Tuesday he will not vote in the forthcoming presidential elections.

Marshall told reporters in answer to questions he obtained an absentee ballot from his Leesburg, Va., home. But he added jovially:

"My father was a Democrat, my mother was a Republican, I'm an Episcopalian. I have never voted and I'm not voting this time."

Firing a broadside at his opponents, the Illinois governor declared:

"There are some desperately important issues, although you would never guess it from listening to the Republican candidates. They don't like to talk about issues very much. They prefer slogans, emotion and confetti.

"Eisenhower's advance men have furnished confetti for the crowds which turn out to greet him.

AFTER organizational work, naming Canada's Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson as Assembly president, the Assembly will get down to its diplomatic duties.

The session began amid reports of a split among the three big Western powers over colonial issues.

The crack in Western unity was revealed in reports that the U. S. delegation had decided to support a move for full debate on Tunisian and Moroccan complaints against France's rule over them. The U. S. delegation, sources added, has not decided how it will vote after the issue has been debated.

Both France and Britain oppose putting the Tunisian and Moroccan questions on the agenda.

The U. S. delegation has disclosed that Acheson will take the initiative quickly in bringing up the Korean war when he leads off the general policy declarations Wednesday. He was reported ready to urge an Assembly appeal for Communist acceptance of an armistice at once along the lines proposed by the UN Command.

The U. S. wants the Assembly to declare its support for the UN Command's position that no prisoners of war should be sent home against their own will.

September Fair Seen Favored If Schools Promise Their Help

Officials of Pickaway County fair board Tuesday indicated the annual fair will be changed back to September dates in 1953 "if the schools go along with us."

At a meeting of the board Monday night in the fairgrounds coliseum, strong sentiment was expressed for the change, providing it would enable local schools to take an active part in the event.

Spokesmen for city and county school systems were not present, but will confer later this week with a committee appointed by the fair board.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, plans a meeting with the committee Thursday.

IN ADDITION to active participation by the schools, fair board officials hoped to obtain assurance that class schedules would be trimmed during the annual exhibition to encourage attendance by the pupils at the fair.

School leaders will be asked what cooperation they might be able to promise if the far is held either the first or second week of September.

McDowell said the proposed arrangement would be a matter for the individual school superintendents to study, but that he personally would assist in any decisions made.

Henry Reid Jr., secretary of the fair board, said considerable discussion at Monday night's meeting was given to the proposed "free gate" for the county fair.

However, he said, the consensus seemed to be that next year's fair would not be financially able to permit a "free gate," although the change in this respect may be made after 1953.

"The matter was discussed only in a general way and no definite decisions were reached," Reid said. "We're still considering the idea for next year."

APPROXIMATELY 31 persons attended the meeting. The public, and especially spokesmen for various local groups, had been given special invitation to be present.

Reid remnided all interested persons that the fair board has changed the night for its monthly meeting.

Instead of the first Monday of each month the board will now meet on the second Monday, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

American Reds In UN Probe Bogs Down

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 — (AP)—A search for American Communists on the United Nations payroll has been stymied in part by the refusal of five witnesses to answer questions by U. S. Senate investigators.

The five, four present UN employes and one former UN stenotypist — refused Monday to say whether they ever were Communists or whether they knew any Reds in the UN.

All based their refusals on the constitutional grounds of protecting themselves against possible self-incrimination.

The four UN employes questioned by the U. S. Senate internal security subcommittee were Alfred J. Van Tassel, Joel Gordon, Frank C. Bancroft and Stanley Graze. The former employe was Eugene Wallach. All are Americans.

Bancroft, a documents control editor, gave a flat "no" answer when asked if he ever engaged in espionage. The other four wouldn't go that far.

Van Tassel, a $12,840-a-year operations director for the UN Technical Assistance Administration, said it was "deplorable" to hold the hearings as the UN General Assembly was about to open. He said the hearings "will create tremendous resentment among the peopies of Asia, Africa and throughout the world."

Van Tassel insisted that "if we are to be intimidated by our own individual governments, the international organization will disappear."

GRAIN FUTURES

CHICAGO, Oct, 14 — (AP)—Soybeans and grains slanted lower Tuesday on the Board of Trade, largely as the result of heavy receipts over the long holiday weekend.

There was little export business in sight, and some of the trading was the result of higher crop estimate released after Friday's session. During the morning all deliveries of corn, July soybeans and July oats sold at new lows for the season. Lard was the only future to show gains.

At noon wheat was ⅛ to 1⅛ lower than Friday's close, December $2.32⅝. Corn was ⅜ to 1⅜ lower, December $1.64¾. Oats were ⅛ higher to ⅜ lower, December 83¼. Soybeans were 2½ to 3¼ lower, November $2.95½ and lard was unchanged to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher, October $9.07.

Russia Snubs Yank Note On Kennan Ouster

MOSCOW, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Russia has brushed aside America's protest over Soviet treatment of U. S. Ambassador George Kennan, labelling the U. S. note a worthless effort to justify a false, hostile statement by the envoy.

In tones that made it clear Russia considers the Kennan matter closed, the statement branded the U. S. note as a "gross contradiction of fact."

Reporters in Berlin quoted Kennan on Sept. 19 as saying an American diplomat's life in Moscow was much the same as being interned by the Nazis in Germany during World War II. At the time Kennan was en route to a meeting of U. S. diplomats in London.

The interview prompted Pravda, the Communist Party paper, to assail Kennan as guilty of hostile conduct unbecoming an ambassador. The Soviet government then demanded that he be recalled.

Last week a U. S. note said Kennan spoke "accurately and in moderate language" and turned down the Soviet demand, but the envoy did not return to Moscow.

The Russian reply said the American statement on the situation of foreign diplomats in the Soviet Union was "an unconcealed attempt to justify the false and hostile attitude towards the Soviet Union of the former ambassador of the United States, Mr. Kennan."

Rifle Accidents Kill 2 Ohio Lads

COLUMBUS, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Two pre-teen age Ohio boys have been killed in the last two days in rifle accidents.

Two boys who found a rifle in a garage went into a field near Strongsville Monday to test it. On the way, the weapon, which Bernard Szopa, 13, was carrying, fired accidentally and killed Richard Glad, 11.

Louis Crain, 12, of near Warren was killed Sunday when his cousin, Dennis Brownlee, 13, stumbled and his rifle's discharge struck Louis while the two boys hunted crows.

Investigation Continuing At Whisler

them to look in to see if everything was all right.

Ralph Dresbach, who lives next door to the Bushee house at Whisler, said he went to the house and knocked. He got no answer.

Dresbach said he saw Mr. Bushee's clothes hanging on a chair and the Bushee auto in the garage, and called Mrs. Curtain back.

MRS. CURTAIN and her husband drove to the house and he broke in through a locked back door. They went upstairs and found Mr. Bushee in bed, the bedclothing blood-soaked.

Other persons in the area discovered Mrs. Bushee's body in the outshed. The husband was not notified of his wife's death until much later.

Deputy Carl Radcliff, first official at the scene, said he made a careful search of the bedroom and stated the weapon was not lying on the bedstand when he searched.

The gun was a nickle-plated .32 calibre revolver with five chambers. Two of the chambers were exploded.

Mrs. Bushee was dressed in her night-clothing when discovered.

Sheriff Radcliff said there was no evidence of a struggle and she was found unscratched and unbruised following examination.

Dr. Griner said the case will be continued until technicians with the mobile crime lab have completed investigation and puzzling points in the evidence made clear.

Mrs. Bushee was born March 14, 1896, near Laurelville, daughter of Salem and Martha Haynes Karshner.

She was married to Edward Bushee on her birthday in 1913.

Surviving her are two sons, Dean Bushee of Circleville and Leewood Bushee of Columbus; a daughter, Mrs. Curtain, of Circleville; two brothers, Guy Karshner and Jay Karshner, both of Laurelville; two sisters, Mrs. Clarence Dumm of Pickaway Township and Mrs. Glenn Hamilton of Circleville; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday in Defenbaugh Funeral Home, followed by burial in Forest cemetery.

Friends may call in the funeral home after 1 p. m. Wednesday.

Wage Board Eyes New Coal Pact

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board, promising to act as quickly as possible but making it clear it will not be pressured into a hasty decision, Tuesday began formal deliberations on the bituminous wage contract signed by John L. Lewis and soft coal mine operators.

At least 10 big Illinois mines employing about 5,000 united mine workers were idle as workers quit Monday in protest over what they indicated was delay in government approval of the wage pact. There were signs the walkout might spread.

X-Ray Program Ends; 2,556 Participate

Pickaway County's 1952 free chest x-ray program ended Monday with a total of 2,556 persons participating.

In its final day of operation, the mobile x-ray unit attracted 522 persons from the communities near Williamsport and Ashville.

In the morning, the unit was visited by 226 persons in Williamsport school, while the afternoon session in Ashville school attracted 396 persons.

The free chest x-ray program was sponsored by the Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Association and paid for by the sale of Christmas Seals.

Only Memories Left To Remind Of Long Past 'Forgotten War'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK— (AP) —We were packing for a three-week trip to Europe, and the bed was littered with clothing the suitcases wouldn't swallow.

I looked out at the swift-flowing East River mirroring the dull image of a gray October sky.

"Think of it—tomorrow night we'll be in Rome!" said Frances. "Promise you'll show me all the places you saw in the war."

"Sure," I said. "But there won't be much of it left to show you."

What could be left after all these years of what Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth Army troops in Italy bitterly called "the forgotten war?" Mark Clark himself was off at the other side of the world now directing his second forgotten war—this one in Korea.

The scars must be pretty well covered in Italy. The earth heals itself quickly. For that matter, a man's mind does a pretty good job of healing itself, too, although there is always a tender spot left in the scar tissue. What was left in me of all those distant battles, the heat and cold, mud, spent blood, growling guns, people begging for bread in ruined towns?

Oddly, the first thing I remembered was a boy's white face, crying silently. He was a ragged Italian child, and an American medic was sprinkling sulfa powder on a gaping shell wound in his head, and the wound was so infected the smell of it sickened the soldier.

"If the boy could get some real care," said the medic. "But after we move on—I'm afraid—"

We did move on. Where is that little boy now?

"They have wonderful gloves in Italy," said Frances. "We must get some for Christmas presents."

I remembered the flashes of the artillery guns, standing almost wheel to wheel, stabbing the night at Salerno Beach, and rolling accordians of barbed wire, and a British soldier who broke under the tension and lay in the dirt, writhing, frothing, moaning in his own mental darkness. "Poor lad," said one of his comrades. "He was at Dunkirk—and I guess he can't take a second one."

"I do hope we get to see the Pope," said Frances. "Do you think he can just look at me and tell I'm a Presbyterian? They say he's one of the smartest men in the world."

The memories unrolled more swiftly. . .A dead doughboy in a brook, his features luminous under the water, one pale hand touching the bank with a curious languor. . .Ernie Pyle peering from a sleeping bag like a surprised elf.

Standing at twilight on the peaceful Isle of Capri and watching Naples burn. The sight of a flaming Nazi plane, twining down like a lazy falling star in the blackness. Nurses pulling wounded men from under a hospital tent blown down in a sudden storm. Losing a helmet and picking up another one bearing the initials of a man who would no longer need it.

"Now where have you lost your toothbrush?" said Frances. "Who took care of you during the war?"

In my mind swam a picture of the stricken valley crossed by the Rapido River beneath a terrible hill called Cassino. If they put up a cross for every man killed or wounded there, it would be a white forest. There was a day we tried to make it all the way, and there were just too many Germans. We hid in an old stone farmhouse. An elderly Italian couple sat by a dying fire, preferring to face death in their own home, if face it they must.

As the shells beat nearer outside, the wife reached out and took her husband's wrinkled hand in her own. They were still sitting silently together when we left. Where are they now?. . . .

"Come on, you day dreamer, we're all packed," said Frances. "The way you look a body'd get the idea you didn't want to go back."

In 1793, the institution of slavery in the United States seemed to be on the wane, but the invention of the cotton gin in that year changed the whole picture and cotton growing, which used large numbers of slaves, was the means of extending slavery and increasing the number of slaves.

No matter what else you do in high school, this year, it will be a success—and you'll have fun—if you learn this:

Plan your time.

Sounds simple? But it's so terrifically important. It's a key to a wonderful, all-around four years in high school and college, success in a job, happiness in romance and marriage.

Plan your time. That is, be grown-up enough to divide your days and evenings to include all the "musts"—things you must do—and leave time for the "want to's"—the things you do for fun.

The idea, for fun, popularity, a fine personality and an education is to make your life a well-balanced one. These come first:

1—"Musts" at home—nine or 10 hours sleep every night; meals on time and regularly; help with housework by doing dishes, cleaning your room, doing errands, etc.

2—"Musts" in school — You're there to learn, so pay attention in class and do your homework. You'll be sorry later if you don't. Try to get better acquainted with your teachers; you'll like them if you do.

After the above "musts" are done each day, divide the rest of your time to include "want to's" for fun:

1—Join one or two school organizations (clubs, orchestra, team) that interest you and take part in them. Enjoy other school activities that you don't join—even if you're no athlete, go to the games. You'll make friends.

2—Join the young people's group in your church and attend regularly.

3—Find out more about community activities for high schoolers; perhaps there's a Teen Center, a Junior Red Cross or similar organizations you'd enjoy and could contribute to.

Only Memories Left To Remind Of Long Past 'Forgotten War'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK— (AP) —We were packing for a three-week trip to Europe, and the bed was littered with clothing the suitcases wouldn't swallow.

I looked out at the swift-flowing East River mirroring the dull image of a gray October sky.

"Think of it—tomorrow night we'll be in Rome!" said Frances. "Promise you'll show me all the places you saw in the war."

"Sure," I said. "But there won't be much of it left to show you."

What could be left after all these years of what Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth Army troops in Italy bitterly called "the forgotten war?" Mark Clark himself was off at the other side of the world now directing his second forgotten war—this one in Korea.

The scars must be pretty well covered in Italy. The earth heals itself quickly. For that matter, a man's mind does a pretty good job of healing itself, too, although there is always a tender spot left in the scar tissue. What was left in me of all those distant battles, the heat and cold, mud, spent blood, growling guns, people begging for bread in ruined towns?

Oddly, the first thing I remembered was a boy's white face, crying silently. He was a ragged Italian child, and an American medic was sprinkling sulfa powder on a gaping shell wound in his head, and the wound was so infected the smell of it sickened the soldier.

"If the boy could get some real care," said the medic. "But after we move on—I'm afraid—"

We did move on. Where is that little boy now?

"They have wonderful gloves in Italy," said Frances. "We must get some for Christmas presents."

I remembered the flashes of the artillery guns, standing almost wheel to wheel, stabbing the night at Salerno Beach, and rolling accordians of barbed wire, and a British soldier who broke under the tension and lay in the dirt, writhing, frothing, moaning in his own mental darkness. "Poor lad," said one of his comrades. "He was at Dunkirk—and I guess he can't take a second one."

"I do hope we get to see the Pope," said Frances. "Do you think he can just look at me and tell I'm a Presbyterian? They say he's one of the smartest men in the world."

OLD STORY IS REVIVED

ATTENTION WILL BE diverted from flying saucers for the moment while the public becomes excited over the reported appearance of an unidentified submarine off the East Coast. Obviously it could not have been a vessel delivering tax-free liquor to United Nations personnel, because foreigners sent here on UN missions are permitted to bring grog in on regular ships.

The story is a bit late in getting in the news, considering the length of the cold war. During the last war German submarines were reported almost daily in the Western Atlantic. Later it turned out that many of these reports were correct.

Details of the story follow the usual pattern. A coast guardsman saw the vessel about five miles off shore. It was cruising on the surface in broad daylight, apparently not concerned over being seen. After a few minutes, the guardsman said, it "went thataway."

Planes and ships sent out immediately found no trace of the sub, nor did the man who spotted it through binoculars distinguish any name, number or other identification.

It could have been an amphibious flying saucer, at that. If a flying saucer, shaped like a submarine, scares the bejabbers out of the residents of an East Coast town in the near future, that is undoubtedly what it was.

HIGHWAY SLOWDOWN

MOTORISTS BOUNCING ALONG rutted roads or sweating out traffic jams hereabouts have plenty of company in the remainder of the country. According to a report by the American Automobile Association, highway construction and maintenance in the U. S. are falling an estimated 100,000 miles behind schedule for the year.

The lag, attributed mainly to shortages caused by the steel strike, is expected to last for at least two years.

Hardest hit by the delay, according to the report, are the nation's cities where postponement of construction of needed throughways is reported to be having serious conomic repercussions by driving business elsewhere.

Many cities have been laggard in recognizing the need to cope with downtown traffic congestion. Now that they want to do something, they are stewing impatiently in their own exhaust fumes.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

I stood in line for an hour for the privilege of voting in this election. In some places, permanent registration is permitted, but in my city it is necessary to do it each year, answering the same questions each time.

I am professionally involved in having a positive opinion about such a matter as the election of President. This year, that has been difficult.

Of Stevenson, I knew nothing except that he spurted up into the Governorship of Illinois. I tried to study his career prior to the governorship and could find too little upon which to form a judgment as to the man, his purposes and beliefs. His literate and intellectual approach was to my taste until he began to employ an obviously superior mind to confuse issues. From Truman that could be expected; in Stevenson, it sounded profane.

As a citizen, I had reserved my judgment. I have read the speeches of the candidates and have listened to some of them on radio. I have tried to be objective, recognizing that this is an unusual campaign and that the times are critical and that each person's vote counts.

Now, I have decided to vote for General Eisenhower, not from party loyalty but because there seems to be no alternative position to take.

Let me state my reasons:

1. I believe in the Constitution of the United States as a way of life. The Constitution stipulates a separation of powers and authority between the Executive, the Legislative and the Judicial branches of government.

It is now clear that Eisenhower, if elected, can find a cooperative majority in Congress, while Stevenson will not have a supporting majority of his own party in Congress. Should Stevenson be elected, the wasteful struggle between the President and Congress, characteristic of the Truman regime, will be continued.

2. I believe in the limitations upon the Federal Government which are stipulated by the Constitution. Eisenhower has, during the campaign, given every evidence of respecting the rights of the people of each state; Stevenson has indicated a preference for an overpowering central government.

3. I believe that the two-party system has been an inevitable development of American history as a reaction to the dangers from both corruption and tyranny because of prolonged power by one party. The election of Eisenhower will preserve the two-party system; the election of Stevenson will destroy the tradition of two parties and will lead to a multi-party condition, similar to that of France, with splinter blocs replacing the two major organizations. It would add to the national confusion.

4. I oppose the theory of permanent war as a method of solving domestic economic problems. This is not an easy problem to solve for anyone nor do I see any constructive proposals concerning it on either side. But I feel that a new look at the problem is essential and that the Republicans have the advantage, as a party, of not having vested interest in errors already made in Europe and Asia. On this subject, Eisen-

Ruptured Vessel In Brain May Cause A Stroke In The Young

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A STROKE may occur occasionally in a fairly young person as a result of bleeding in the brain. This may come as news to most readers, who think of stroke victims as elderly or middle-aged people, with high blood pressure or some blood vessel disorder. Most of these strokes in young people are not fatal, and the patients recover without a surgical operation.

This type of stroke is most often traced to rupture of a blood vessel in the brain. This is due to an aneurysm, a natural weak spot in the wall of the blood vessel, causing a pouch at that point like a little balloon. Evidently, most of these aneurysms rupture, and a stroke follows.

Common Symptoms

Stroke in the young sometimes resembles meningitis, or even sunstroke. The most common symptoms of a ruptured aneurysm or blood vessel are stiff neck, severe and constant headache, vomiting and an aversion to light. Some of these people have a convulsion at the beginning of the stroke. The temperature may also rise.

The cause of the stroke can usually be detected by a spinal tap, in which a needle is inserted into the spinal cord, and some of the fluid drawn out. In case of a ruptured aneurysm, this fluid is bloody.

Six Weeks' Bed Rest

Usually the best treatment is to put the patient to bed for six weeks of rest.

The aneurysm itself can often be located by X-rays. A dye is first injected into the artery supplying the blood vessels of the brain, and then a series of X-ray pictures are taken.

Once the aneurysm is found, the blood vessel can be tied off, or the aneurysm can be removed surgically.

Many patients go on to lead fairly normal lives after recovering from a stroke in the early years.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. G.: Lately I find myself getting short of breath; and sometimes, especially after exercise, I find it very difficult to catch my breath. What do you think is the matter?

Answer: Shortness of breath may be due to a number of causes, such as heart disease or lung disease. Asthma, also, is a frequent cause.

It would be advisable for you to have a thorough physical examination in order to determine the source of your difficulty.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

SHE WANTED to keep him beside her, but he had already turned away to examine the chart with the nurse, and Eve hadn't yet the strength to raise her voice to call him back. Tomorrow she would be stronger. And the day after that, stronger still. She was going to get well quickly. The constitution of a dandelion, she'd told Jeremy once.

"Penicillin is wonderful," she said to the nurse who approached her with a needle. "Isn't it?"

"Yes, Mrs. Ireland."

Eve had learned not to flinch, to hold herself aloof from the brief, quick stab. From the other pain, the one that began sharply the minute recognition came of her love for Jeremy, she had not yet found immunity. She thought, He hates me. How can I tell him I love him? How can I make him believe me, after everything?

There was a way. She could be honest with Jeremy. About the past, everything. Even her reason for marrying him. No dissembling. She'd been almost honest, once, with Steve Raymond. It had worked, and he had married her. But this was different. It wouldn't be easy, throwing herself on Jeremy's mercy, asking for a second chance. But Jeremy was kind. He had loved her. He would again. He would forgive her. But she would have to start with honesty. He'd hated all her lies.

She asked the nurse, "Do I look a hag?"

"You look fine, Mrs. Ireland."

Naturally, she'd say that, Eve thought. Nurses, and their professional brightness! "Bring me a mirror," she ordered.

She looked at herself. "Mmmm." She grimaced. "Is that what you call fine?"

"A few more days, you'll perk up."

So she waited until a faint color came back into her cheeks, until her fingers were steady enough to hold the lipstick and tie a ribbon in her hair. Then, propped against pillows, looking beautiful and feeling more scared than ever before in her life, she said to Jeremy, "Must you rush off? Can't we talk today? There are things I want to say to you, Jeremy. Please."

He glanced at his wristwatch, pulled over a chair.

"Smoke," she said, "if you like. It's going to take a little time for all I have to say."

He looked dubious, "Can't it wait?"

"No, Jeremy."

She saw his frown when she told him she'd have to go a long way back. Back to the time when she was a child, before she'd known his father and mother.

"Eve, this can wait."

"Please."

"All right."

She said a surprising thing. "Jeremy, do you believe children are decent to start with?" She didn't wait for his reply. "They're not. They have to be taught decency. They have to be shown the difference between bad and good. My parents hadn't time for me. They were more interested in horses. They raised thoroughbreds, and followed the horses, season in, season out, all over the country. I didn't read Hans Christian Anderson. I read the Racing Form." She shrugged. "By the time people—not my parents—started teaching me that lies were wrong, and stealing wicked, it was too late. Who was it said, Give me a child from birth to seven years, and I'll show you the man or woman he will become? . . . The formative years. I found out that I could get the things I wanted by taking them, if I were smart. And that I could lie my way out of anything. Your mother was the first person who tried to change me. Perhaps, if she hadn't cast me off—" She shrugged again, not flippantly. "I hated her for sending me back to the Shelter, Jeremy. I told her I'd get even, that I'd pay her back for not giving me another chance . . ."

The hatred and the frustration had remained with her all the time she had been at the Shelter. She was the institution's Bad Girl. She refused to make friends with the other children; she broke all the rules, snapped her fingers at authority. She was desperately lonely and unhappy, but too proud to acknowledge either. She had stayed at the Shelter until she instigated a hunger strike against the skimpy and horribly monotonous meals. After that, she was sent away to Reform School.

She still hated the Irelands. They were responsible for everything that had happened to her. They'd deprived her of all the things she might have had—a home, pretty clothes, friends. They had sent her to this—bars at the windows, cotton bags of dresses, supervision, rules, drabness. She would get even. But she had to find a way. Her hatred could not touch the Irelands unless she found the means of getting back into their lives. Even that would be futile, unless she could meet them on an equal social and financial footing.

Two things she must have. An education, and money.

At the Reform School, she read everything she could lay her hands on, Shakespeare filched from the bookshelf in the Matron's sitting room, tabloids salvaged from the dormitory waste baskets.

She read, not in search for knowledge, but to put herself on the cultural level of those who had read all the right things. Her memory was a sponge, soaking up everything avidly and indiscriminately. She could quote whole passages of Shakespeare, without understanding in the least what it was all about. She worked to enlarge her vocabulary. Sometimes, when she had used an unfamiliar word, she mispronounced it, but she did not know this. She had the remarkable vocabulary of the girls in the Reformatory, and as well the fine new words she was learning. The girls laughed at her. She didn't care.

She subscribed to the Thurstonia Herald, and clipped from it everything that was printed about the Irelands. That, then, was her only contact with them.

From the Reform school she was sent, at eighteen, into housework. She hated that, the minimum of personal freedom, the uniforms, the inadequate income. Eventually, she ran away with a pair of valuable diamond clips stolen from her employer.

Of course they caught her, and she spent a year in prison. The ignominy she resented less than the wasted time. She determined, when she was free, never again to put herself in a position where she would become entangled with the law.

She worked in a munitions' factory. But she had no intention of staying on the assembly line. She took a night course in secretarial work, and was soon transferred to the office. A stenographer in a big room with all the other girls at typewriters. Then secretary to the assistant manager, with an office of her own. She began to meet people, important people. She didn't bother with the others. She met people of social standing, with money. She met Steve Raymond.

She saw at once that he was taken with her looks. But he knew dozens of other beautiful girls, and Eve knew he had to see her as different, set apart from the others. So she gambled on a long chance, and with what seemed disarming frankness, she told him everything about herself, Reform school, prison, everything. Essentially, she told him the truth, but she made it amusing, appealing, tragic. You poor kid, Steve said. You've had all the tough breaks, haven't you? Soon he was saying, Marry me, Eve.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—The famed Federal Bureau of Investigation has been dragged into politics for the first time in its history by the Eisenhower-Stevenson row over how to prevent Communist infiltration of sensitive security agencies at Washington.

In assailing Senator McCarthy's tactics and questioning Eisenhower's sincerity in concentrating on this issue, Stevenson declares that the task of combatting Hiss-Coplon-Fuchs activities should be left to the FBI and to Gen. Walter Bedell Smith's Central Intelligence Agency. He adds that insuring domestic security is a job "for professionals who know their business and their adversaries."

Indirectly, although he may not realize or mean it, the Democratic nominee apparently prefers that these two executive agencies take over the work of exposing Reds inside and outside the government from congressional committees.

His suggestion may provoke a Republican demand to say whether he agrees with the stand recently taken by one of his more enthusiastic group of supporters. At their recent convention at Brandeis University, Students for Democratic Action, an ADA auxiliary, adopted a resolution favoring abolition of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee.

THE CATCH—Although Stevenson's proposal is undoubtedly well intentioned, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover himself could explain to him that the substitute program is impractical and ineffective for several reasons.

The principal catch is that the FBI is an executive agency under the direction and domination of the attorney general, a politically appointed official who is beholden in all things to the President.

The FBI is a mere detective unit, not a prosecutorial body. Save in the case of overt criminals, it has no authority to bring to justice offenders whom an Administration prefers to protect.

FINAL ACTION — Indeed, it must obtain an order from the attorney general to undertake the kind of assignment Stevenson would impose on the FBI. Then, when it has assembled the evidence, the question of indicting and prosecuting the suspects is up to the presidentially appointed law enforcement officer.

When and if a case developed by the FBI has political implications as does the Communist controversy, the attorney general naturally submits the problem to the man in the White House for action or inaction.

PROOF — The Hoover files themselves are full of evidence that the Stevenson plan would not work. In fact, they prove that partisan political considerations have frequently prevented the FBI from routing subversives from key positions.

The FBI, for instance, had Alger Hiss under suspicion for years before the House UnAmerican Activities Committee tracked him down. But it did not dare to proceed against the brilliant State Department adviser who was so honored that he was selected as a Roosevelt adviser at Yalta. Numerous other officials since fired as security risks were on Hoover's books as "bad eggs."

A thorough investigation of the Amerasia conspirators, including Navy personnel, was squelched by the higher ups. Former Attorney General Tom Clark was condemned by the Chelf Committee for "improper judgment" in not authorizing a full FBI inquiry of the Kansas City vote frauds. And these are only sample cases of political control and manipulation of the FBI.

UN AND KOREA — Domestic politics will probably steal the show at the fall meeting of the General Assembly of the United Nations, which opens in New York today. In fact, as the principal actor, Secretary Acheson, would like to postpone the affair until after the elections.

He had originally intended, and he may still do so, to ask the assembly to uphold the United States more vigorously in Korea. He would like the assembly, where Russia enjoys no veto, to appeal to Communist China to agree to our armistice stipulations, and to threaten more aggressive action if Mao Tse-tung refuses. He would also like immediate and favorable approval.

However, if the assembly should respond indifferently or negatively to his request, it would reinforce Republican arguments on this issue. It would be hailed as evidence that the United Nations is not backing us up sincerely in Korea, and that the Administration has no positive plan for ending the conflict.

EMBARRASS — Acheson has also indicated that he might ask member nations to furnish more ground troops, air units and naval support. A deterring influence is that some of our allies would like to pull out or to reduce the size of their present forces. A negative answer to such a proposal would be politically dangerous.

Although it would confirm charges that the UN is a "weak reed," contrary to Acheson's recent characterization of that body, the secretary of state prefers to postpone any Korean debate until after Nov. 4.

Meanwhile, diplomats report that the present intensive warfare by the Reds on the Korean front is designed to embarrass the United States at the New York palaver.

They usually worked far into the night, and the tenants on the floor below waxed more and more irate. After one particularly bitter complaint, Composer Schwartz sighed, "I guess we'll have to find another place to work." "Yeah," agreed Dietz, "but I ask you to remember that it's your music they're kicking about; never my lyrics!"

OLD STORY IS REVIVED

ATTENTION WILL BE diverted from flying saucers for the moment while the public becomes excited over the reported appearance of an unidentified submarine off the East Coast. Obviously it could not have been a vessel delivering tax-free liquor to United Nations personnel, because foreigners sent here on UN missions are permitted to bring grog in on regular ships.

The story is a bit late in getting in the news, considering the length of the cold war. During the last war German submarines were reported almost daily in the Western Atlantic. Later it turned out that many of these reports were correct.

Details of the story follow the usual pattern. A coast guardsman saw the vessel about five miles off shore. It was cruising on the surface in broad daylight, apparently not concerned over being seen. After a few minutes, the guardsman said, it "went thataway."

Planes and ships sent out immediately found no trace of the sub, nor did the man who spotted it through binoculars distinguish any name, number or other identification.

It could have been an amphibious flying saucer, at that. If a flying saucer, shaped like a submarine, scares the bejabbers out of the residents of an East Coast town in the near future, that is undoubtedly what it was.

HIGHWAY SLOWDOWN

MOTORISTS BOUNCING ALONG rutted roads or sweating out traffic jams hereabouts have plenty of company in the remainder of the country. According to a report by the American Automobile Association, highway construction and maintenance in the U. S. are falling an estimated 100,000 miles behind schedule for the year.

The lag, attributed mainly to shortages caused by the steel strike, is expected to last for at least two years.

Hardest hit by the delay, according to the report, are the nation's cities where postponement of construction of needed throughways is reported to be having serious conomic repercussions by driving business elsewhere.

Many cities have been laggard in recognizing the need to cope with downtown traffic congestion. Now that they want to do something, they are stewing impatiently in their own exhaust fumes.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

I stood in line for an hour for the privilege of voting in this election. In some places, permanent registration is permitted, but in my city it is necessary to do it each year, answering the same questions each time.

I am professionally involved in having a positive opinion about such a matter as the election of President. This year, that has been difficult.

Of Stevenson, I knew nothing except that he spurted up into the Governorship of Illinois. I tried to study his career prior to the governorship and could find too little upon which to form a judgment as to the man, his purposes and beliefs. His literate and intellectual approach was to my taste until he began to employ an obviously superior mind to confuse issues. From Truman that could be expected; in Stevenson, it sounded profane.

As a citizen, I had reserved my judgment. I have read the speeches of the candidates and have listened to some of them on radio. I have tried to be objective, recognizing that this is an unusual campaign and that the times are critical and that each person's vote counts.

Now, I have decided to vote for General Eisenhower, not from party loyalty but because there seems to be no alternative position to take.

Let me state my reasons:

1. I believe in the Constitution of the United States as a way of life. The Constitution stipulates a separation of powers and authority between the Executive, the Legislative and the Judicial branches of government.

It is now clear that Eisenhower, if elected, can find a cooperative majority in Congress, while Stevenson will not have a supporting majority of his own party in Congress. Should Stevenson be elected, the wasteful struggle between the President and Congress, characteristic of the Truman regime, will be continued.

2. I believe in the limitations upon the Federal Government which are stipulated by the Constitution. Eisenhower has, during the campaign, given every evidence of respecting the rights of the people of each state; Stevenson has indicated a preference for an overpowering central government.

3. I believe that the two-party system has been an inevitable development of American history as a reaction to the dangers from both corruption and tyranny because of prolonged power by one party. The election of Eisenhower will preserve the two-party system; the election of Stevenson will destroy the tradition of two parties and will lead to a multi-party condition, similar to that of France, with splinter blocs replacing the two major organizations. It would add to the national confusion.

4. I oppose the theory of permanent war as a method of solving domestic economic problems. This is not an easy problem to solve for anyone nor do I see any constructive proposals concerning it on either side. But I feel that a new look at the problem is essential and that the Republicans have the advantage, as a party, of not having vested interest in errors already made in Europe and Asia. On this subject, Eisen-

Ruptured Vessel In Brain May Cause A Stroke In The Young

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A STROKE may occur occasionally in a fairly young person as a result of bleeding in the brain. This may come as news to most readers, who think of stroke victims as elderly or middle-aged people, with high blood pressure or some blood vessel disorder. Most of these strokes in young people are not fatal, and the patients recover without a surgical operation.

This type of stroke is most often traced to rupture of a blood vessel in the brain. This is due to an aneurysm, a natural weak spot in the wall of the blood vessel, causing a pouch at that point like a little balloon. Evidently, most of these aneurysms rupture, and a stroke follows.

Common Symptoms

Stroke in the young sometimes resembles meningitis, or even sunstroke. The most common symptoms of a ruptured aneurysm or blood vessel are stiff neck, severe and constant headache, vomiting and an aversion to light. Some of these people have a convulsion at the beginning of the stroke. The temperature may also rise.

The cause of the stroke can usually be detected by a spinal tap, in which a needle is inserted into the spinal cord, and some of the fluid drawn out. In case of a ruptured aneurysm, this fluid is bloody.

Six Weeks' Bed Rest

Usually the best treatment is to put the patient to bed for six weeks of rest.

The aneurysm itself can often be located by X-rays. A dye is first injected into the artery supplying the blood vessels of the brain, and then a series of X-ray pictures are taken.

Once the aneurysm is found, the blood vessel can be tied off, or the aneurysm can be removed surgically.

Many patients go on to lead fairly normal lives after recovering from a stroke in the early years.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. G.: Lately I find myself getting short of breath; and sometimes, especially after exercise, I find it very difficult to catch my breath. What do you think is the matter?

Answer: Shortness of breath may be due to a number of causes, such as heart disease or lung disease. Asthma, also, is a frequent cause.

It would be advisable for you to have a thorough physical examination in order to determine the source of your difficulty.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

SHE WANTED to keep him beside her, but he had already turned away to examine the chart with the nurse, and Eve hadn't yet the strength to raise her voice to call him back. Tomorrow she would be stronger. And the day after that, stronger still. She was going to get well quickly. The constitution of a dandelion, she'd told Jeremy once.

"Penicillin is wonderful," she said to the nurse who approached her with a needle. "Isn't it?"

"Yes, Mrs. Ireland."

Eve had learned not to flinch, to hold herself aloof from the brief, quick stab. From the other pain, the one that began sharply the minute recognition came of her love for Jeremy, she had not yet found immunity. She thought, He hates me. How can I tell him I love him? How can I make him believe me, after everything?

There was a way. She could be honest with Jeremy. About the past, everything. Even her reason for marrying him. No dissembling. She'd been almost honest, once, with Steve Raymond. It had worked, and he had married her. But this was different. It wouldn't be easy, throwing herself on Jeremy's mercy, asking for a second chance. But Jeremy was kind. He had loved her. He would again. He would forgive her. But she would have to start with honesty. He'd hated all her lies.

She asked the nurse, "Do I look a hag?"

"You look fine, Mrs. Ireland."

Naturally, she'd say that, Eve thought. Nurses, and their professional brightness! "Bring me a mirror," she ordered.

She looked at herself. "Mmmm." She grimaced. "Is that what you call fine?"

"A few more days, you'll perk up."

So she waited until a faint color came back into her cheeks, until her fingers were steady enough to noid the lipstick and tie a ribbon in her hair. Then, propped against pillows, looking beautiful and feeling more scared than ever before in her life, she said to Jeremy, "Must you rush off? Can't we talk today? There are things I want to say to you, Jeremy. Please."

He glanced at his wristwatch, pulled over a chair.

"Smoke," she said, "if you like. It's going to take a little time for all I have to say."

He looked dubious, "Can't it wait?"

"No, Jeremy."

She saw his frown when she told him she'd have to go a long way back. Back to the time when she was a child, before she'd known his father and mother.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—The famed Federal Bureau of Investigation has been dragged into politics for the first time in its history by the Eisenhower-Stevenson row over how to prevent Communist infiltration of sensitive security agencies at Washington.

In assailing Senator McCarthy's tactics and questioning Eisenhower's sincerity in concentrating on this issue, Stevenson declares that the task of combatting Hiss-Coplon-Fuchs activities should be left to the FBI and to Gen. Walter Bedell Smith's Central Intelligence Agency. He adds that insuring domestic security is a job "for professionals who know their business and their adversaries."

Indirectly, although he may not realize or mean it, the Democratic nominee apparently prefers that these two executive agencies take over the work of exposing Reds inside and outside the government from congressional committees.

His suggestion may provoke a Republican demand to say whether he agrees with the stand recently taken by one of his more enthusiastic group of supporters. At their recent convention at Brandeis University, Students for Democratic Action, an ADA auxiliary, adopted a resolution favoring abolition of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee.

THE CATCH—Although Stevenson's proposal is undoubtedly well intentioned, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover himself could explain to him that the substitute program is impractical and ineffective for several reasons.

The principal catch is that the FBI is an executive agency under the direction and domination of the attorney general, a politically appointed official who is beholden in all things to the President.

The FBI is a mere detective unit, not a prosecutorial body. Save in the case of overt criminals, it has no authority to bring to justice offenders whom an Administration prefers to protect.

FINAL ACTION — Indeed, it must obtain an order from the attorney general to undertake the kind of assignment Stevenson would impose on the FBI. Then, when it has assembled the evidence, the question of indicting and prosecuting the suspects is up to the presidentially appointed law enforcement officer.

When and if a case developed by the FBI has political implications as does the Communist controversy, the attorney general naturally submits the problem to the man in the White House for action or inaction.

PROOF — The Hoover files themselves are full of evidence that the Stevenson plan would not work. In fact, they prove that partisan political considerations have frequently prevented the FBI from routing subversives from key positions.

The FBI, for instance, had Alger Hiss under suspicion for years before the House UnAmerican Activities Committee tracked him down. But it did not dare to proceed against the brilliant State Department adviser who was so honored that he was selected as a Roosevelt adviser at Yalta. Numerous other officials since fired as security risks were on Hoover's books as "bad eggs."

A thorough investigation of the Amerasia conspirators, including Navy personnel, was squelched by the higher ups. Former Attorney General Tom Clark was condemned by the Chelf Committee for "improper judgment" in not authorizing a full FBI inquiry of the Kansas City vote frauds. And these are only sample cases of political control and manipulation of the FBI.

UN AND KOREA — Domestic politics will probably steal the show at the fall meeting of the General Assembly of the United Nations, which opens in New York today. In fact, as the principal actor, Secretary Acheson, would like to postpone the affair until after the elections.

He had originally intended, and he may still do so, to ask the assembly to uphold the United States more vigorously in Korea. He would like the assembly, where Russia enjoys no veto, to appeal to Communist China to agree to our armistice stipulations, and to threaten more aggressive action if Mao Tse-tung refuses. He would also like immediate and favorable approval.

However, if the assembly should respond indifferently or negatively to his request, it would reinforce Republican arguments on this issue. It would be hailed as evidence that the United Nations is not backing us up sincerely in Korea, and that the Administration has no positive plan for ending the conflict.

EMBARRASS — Acheson has also indicated that he might ask member nations to furnish more ground troops, air units and naval support. A deterring influence is that some of our allies would like to pull out or to reduce the size of their present forces. A negative answer to such a proposal would be politically dangerous.

Although it would confirm charges that the UN is a "weak reed," contrary to Acheson's recent characterization of that body, the secretary of state prefers to postpone any Korean debate until after Nov. 4.

Meanwhile, diplomats report that the present intensive warfare by the Reds on the Korean front is designed to embarrass the United States at the New York palaver.

Composer Arthur Schwartz and Howard Dietz, who writes the lyrics for most of Schwartz's melodies, composed a score for a new show in Manhattan last Summer. They usually worked far into the night, and the tenants on the floor below waxed more and more irate. After one particularly bitter complaint, Composer Schwartz sighed, "I guess we'll have to find another place to work." "Yeah," agreed Dietz, "but I ask you to remember that it's your music they're kicking about; never my lyrics!"

Mrs. Donald Klopfer boasted to her Flemington Literary Circle that her husband had given up smokng for a year. "That must have taken plenty of self-control," said Mrs. Teague admiringly. "Exactly," agreed Mrs. Klopfer, "and that's just what I've got."

Fine Art Entries Doubled In Big 1952 Pumpkin Show

Art League Group Completes Plans

Pumpkin Show plans were discussed at the meeting of the Circleville Art League, held Monday evening in the studio.

The first exhibit of the group will be held during Pumpkin Show in the Court House.

In 1951, a fine art exhibit was held in the Court House for the first time in several years. Members of the Chillicothe Art League furnished 40 pictures, which were displayed.

March, 1952 saw the formation of the Circleville Art League, which is composed of 18 members, both men and women, who paint for a hobby. Many of the members have not had formal training, however six members have had extensive college training.

In the 1952 Pumpkin Show, the number of exhibits to be placed will be double that of last year.

Miss Ruth Montelius will be in charge of the exhibit, which will be free to the public.

Fifty pictures will be placed by local artists. Those planning to display will be Miss Montelius, H. E. Montelius, Mrs. W. W. Robinson, Mrs. Roger May, Ted Steele, Mrs. Edwin Bach, Jr., Mrs. Henry Schreoder, Mrs. Lawrence E. Goeller, Jr., Mrs. C. T. Vaughan, Mrs. W. Emerson Downing, Miss Martha Reid, Mrs. William Collins, Mrs. Hildeburn Jones, Jr., Edson Crites, and Mr. and Mrs. Orin Clarke Stout. Russ McFarland will have an exhibit of hand carved leather.

In addition to the Circleville pictures, thirty pictures will be furnished by members of the Chillicothe Art League. Arranging the display from Chillicothe will be Oren Webb, president of the group, and Mrs. Gene B. Kuhns, organizer.

There will also be a display of art students work from a class taught by Miss Ruth Montelius.

Members are asked to have their entries in the studio by Monday, Oct. 20.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

Shame, rebuke or punishment of any kind for bedwetting is not only futile but also very harmful, in any situation I can imagine. I didn't suppose there was a physician alive today who would advise a parent to spank a child for bedwetting.

But it looks as if there is one, according to a letter from a reader who writes:

"Dear Dr. Myers: Our six-year-old son wets the bed. He never did before the last few months. We took him to our doctor and he said the boy is perfectly healthy but a very wilful child and for Dad to give him a very hard spanking, one that he would never forget. We have spanked him but it doesn't seem to do any good.

"We talk to him a lot and explain that we want the best for him. He gets read to by Daddy or Mother or Sister. We have never had a bit of trouble with our daughter, ten, and the baby, just turned four, is good-natured and easy to handle.

"He takes stubborn streaks. Won't get his hair cut or let the store clerk try on new shose. But he doesn't get away with it, and knows he hasn't gained anything. He gets on pretty well at school.

"HE IS VERY hot-tempered and rages in a temper over small things. He stamps his feet and his eyes blaze madness. He is very revengeful and will destroy things around the house.

"We adopted him when he was six weeks old. Neither he nor the other children know he is adopted. Do you think he has inherited something we know nothing about"

Here, in part, is how I answered the mother: The behavior you report is not inherited. His not knowing of his adoption, your unwise handling of his stubbornness, and the fact that the other children are so good-natured could cause all your trouble. While you have not told him in words he is adopted, you have betrayed all sorts of emotions over the matter, causing him to feel that all is not well.

Do tell him the truth in a calm, lovely way very soon. Strive in all sorts of ways to make this lad feel he is as important in the family as the other children. Win your relatives and friends to help you in this direction.

Go on with the fine, lovely things you parents have been doing for this lad. Dad should go places with the boy, make and do things with him for fun. Try and attract playmates of his age to your home. See that the baby does not mess up his things. Don't compare him with the other children. Please don't shame, scold or punish him for bedwetting. As the other problems clear up, this one should disappear. Be happy with gradual improvement.

Q. The teacher of our daughter, eight, says she dawdles over written work at school. She also dawdles in all sorts of situations at home.

A. Inform the teacher that you don't think you can reduce this child's dawdling at school by scolding her for it at home. Try to work out good ways of reducing her dawdling at home, hoping the improvement will carry over to school.

Q. My daughter has just entered the first grade. As her teacher has so many little children in her room, wouldn't it be a good thing for me to be at school each day as it closes in order to help my child and the other children find and put on their wraps, and thus lessen the teachers load?

A. No. Train your child at home to wait on herself there and then prevail on other mothers to do likewise. Perhaps you could induce your PTA to discuss this matter at an early meeting.

Feature Brings Out Sidelight

Two of the majorettes on the left and right in the picture are Ann and Nan Winland, 16-year-old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Winland of Bremen.

Back in 1937, the girls won a prize in that year's Pumpkin Show baby parade, taking an award in the "twins" section of the judging.

The girls spent a major part of their early years with their grandmother and their aunt, Mrs. Cora Cummings and Miss Jessie Cummings of East Main street.

Brehm Denied Hearing By High Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—(AP)—The U. S. Supreme Court Monday denied Rep. Walter E. Brehm (R-Ohio) a review of his conviction for illegally taking campaign gifts.

Brehm was convicted of accepting $1,000 in political contribution from Mrs. Emma S. Craven in 1948 while she clerked in his office here.

The lawmaker was fined $5,000 and given a suspended 5 to 15-month jail sentence. The Supreme Court's action lets the fine stand unchanged. Justice Burton, a fellow Ohioan, took no part in disposing of the case.

Brehm is not seeking reelection. He has been a member of the House since Jan. 3, 1943. He was convicted in U. S. District Court here on April 30, 1951, and later lost an appeal to the U. S. Court of Appeals here.

The federal Corrupt Practices Act makes it a crime for congressmen to accept gifts from government employes. Brehm contended, among other things, that Mrs. Craven's testimony showed she intended the money to go into the Republican general campaign fund.

ALTHOUGH she was pinned behind the steering wheel after her auto was struck by a freight train near Belleville, Ill., Mrs. Lydia Chorlton, 62, of Belleville, directs rescue operations. Mrs. Chorlton suffered a broken arm and internal injuries. (International)

Poultry Exhibit Is Top Feature Of 1952 Show

One of the top features of Circleville's 1952 Pumpkin Show beginning next week will be a huge poultry show.

This year's poultry show, directed by Otto Guenther, will be housed in a big, new tent immediately across the street from Circleville Postoffice.

New, larger quarters have been obtained for this year's poultry exhibit because of the enthusiasm shown in last year's exhibit, when officials dashed madly about seeking more pens to house the record entries.

And, in some cases, the entries were "doubled up" in the 1951 show.

The new quarters this year, however, are expected to be large enough to handle all of the entries seeking honors.

CLASSES to be judged will be geese, ducks, chickens, bantams, turkeys and rabbits. Prizes, in general, will be $1 for first, 50 cents for second and a ribbon for third, with slightly higher prizes in the turkey department.

All entries are to be in the tent no later than noon next Wednesday, opening day of the Show, and will not be released until 3 p. m. the following Saturday.

The entries will be fed and cared for without cost to the exhibitor. No diseased exhibits will be allowed, and birds which become sick must be removed at the request of the director.

Grain And Fruit, Vegetable Shows Large This Year

Heaping tables of golden grains and ripe, luscious fruit taken from the fertile lands of Pickaway County will be a crowd-pleaser in Circleville's big 1952 Pumpkin Show.

The grain and fruit and vegetable shows will be located on West Main street near Scioto street again this year.

Grain competition, to be directed by David Yates this year, is expected to top last year's record mark.

The 1951 grain show was swelled to record proportions by county Future Farmers of America corn entries, causing the show to be divided into two parts—school and open classes.

This year's show is expected to match the 1951 exhibit both in quality and quantity.

* * *

ALL ENTRIES are to be in place by 6 p. m. of opening day, and entries must be identified by the exhibitor.

The fruit and vegetable show, directed again by the Rev. Sam Elsea, will overshadow the grain display in volume.

More than 90 individual classes are offered for competition to local gardeners and orchardists.

All fruit and vegetable entries must be made Wednesday and will be protected until 5 p. m. the following Saturday.

hower's approach has been more forthright than Stevenson's.

5. I am convinced that the participation of Communists, who are Russian agents, in the government of the United States is essentially wrong. Eisenhower has made his position clear as an anti-Communist. I read Stevenson's so-called anti-Communist speech and came away from it distressed because it sounded to me like a defense of the American Communists and an attack on those who oppose them.

6. Eisenhower may fumble on economic problems but his intention to reduce the budget, to rationalize military expenditures, and to make our defenses more efficient provides hope for a lowering of taxes. Stevenson refuses to meet this problem at all, although it is the crucial one of our lives.

7. While Stevenson's intellectual brilliance appeals to me, Eisenhower's handling of himself under the stress of an altogether new experience in his life, his procedures in binding the wounds of a divided party, his recognition of the political party as a team, his rejection of confusing advice and his psychological adjustments in an extraordinarily difficult campaign give hope for a restoration of government by law, by the Congress and the President cooperating rather than quarrelling.

8. I abhor Socialism as the road to the enslavement of the individual to the state. As long as Stevenson does not repudiate the Fabian Socialistic A.D.A., the peril of creeping Socialism continues in our country.

Says Wonderful Things About You!
The instant your beautiful Cadillac points its crest into view, it begins to say wonderful things about you.
It says, almost as plainly as if the words were written out, that you are a person of achievement in your own world of affairs.
It talks of your good judgment and your splendid taste—and indicates your sense of responsibility for those who ride with you as passengers, or drive beside you in the traffic lanes.
It speaks of your family and home and your way of life—and, in general, paves the way for the respect of those you encounter as you sit at its wheel.
This is true because those who own Cadillacs form a virtual "Who's Who" of America's highways. In almost every community in the country, it is obvious that Cadillac is the favored car of the leading people.
The reason for this, of course, is found in the history of the car itself.
For fifty years, it has been the unwavering purpose to make Cadillac as fine a car as it is practical to produce. Goodness has always been the watchword—craftsmanship has always been the creed.
As a result, Cadillac has long been known and accepted as—"The Standard of the World." And, inevitably, people who want and seek the finest have turned to Cadillac.
That's why the man who sits at the wheel of a Cadillac is an accepted member of the most distinguished motoring family to be found anywhere.
If you are ready for membership in this incomparable group, better come in and see us soon. We'd be happy to welcome you at any time.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

Shame, rebuke or punishment of any kind for bedwetting is not only futile but also very harmful, in any situation I can imagine. I didn't suppose there was a physician alive today who would advise a parent to spank a child for bedwetting.

But it looks as if there is one, according to a letter from a reader who writes:

"Dear Dr. Myers: Our six-year-old son wets the bed. He never did before the last few months. We took him to our doctor and he said the boy is perfectly healthy but a very wilful child and for Dad to give him a very hard spanking, one that he would never forget. Women Work Hard To Bring Record Vote

If Only Half Their Efforts Yield, New U.S. Mark Assured

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 — (AP)— America has 52 million women of voting age and a record number of them are planning to turn out for the coming presidential election.

It has taken a long time, but now the gals are going full-steam ahead in the campaign to get out the vote. It's a good bet that the candidate who convinces the women is the one who's going to move into the White House next January.

"Women deserve the major credit for today's record registration," says a spokesman for the American Heritage Foundation, a non-partisan, non - profit organization whose job is to coordinate the efforts of the scores of organizations waging individual campaigns to get citizens to the polls.

"There are 26 million workers on the job at present, pledged to get out the vote, and most of them are women."

Virtually all the women's organizations in the country are working on intensive campaigns to get voters to the polls Nov. 4.

* * *

IF THEIR PLANS are only 50 per cent effective, we'll have the biggest vote in the history of the nation.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs, for instance, has pledged each of its 11 million members to get 10 of her friends to the polls. The DAR, with 158,000 members, is engaged in the same project.

The Business and Professional Women's Clubs also are working through their organized groups in practically every community.

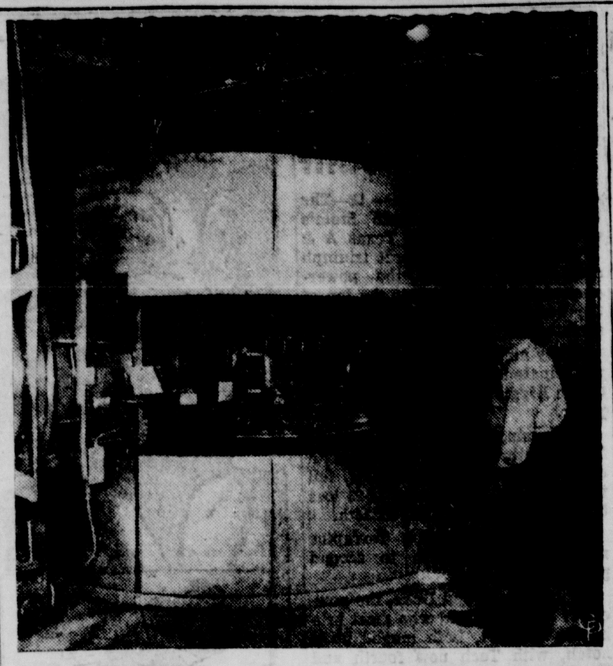

The Girls Scouts and the Cappfire Girls are volunteering as baby sitters for mothers who want to register or vote. The girls, with complete instructions for the job, will even walk the puppy.

It seems that the long and tireless efforts of such organizations as the League of Women Voters are paying off at last.

It has dawned on the nation's women that they haven't lived up to their hard-fought battle for suffrage. Now they're going to put it to work.

Students of the political scene say television may be responsible for much of the new feminine activity. When candidates and issues come right into the living room, they can't be ignored.

During its last visit which lasted almost two years, Halley's comet was at its brightest about May, 1910. It was then a conspicuous object to the naked eye.

JOHN P. FITZPATRICK, group leader in charge of cyclotron operations, stands beside the nation's newest atom-smashing device, a 60-inch constant frequency cyclotron, at the Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago. The device, now in operation, has already exceeded the stringent performance specifications called for in the construction contract. The beam of electrically charged particles which emerges from its acceleration chamber is extremely intense, making it especially suited to the study of nuclear reaction and the production of radio isotopes.

Reds Fighting Job Problems

HONG KONG—(AP) — The Chinese Reds have drafted some of their biggest names for a Labor Employment Committee to deal with the growing unemployment problem. The Communists say that 3 million of China's 450 million population are out of work. The figure may be higher.

The Reds say that unemployment is a heritage of the Chinese Nationalist regime or is caused by Communist production efficiency, the liberation of millions of housewives from their kitchens and the lack of arable land.

Red China is seeking to solve the problem by restrictions on the dismissal of workers, wage changes, shorter hours (to eight and 10 hours daily) and government land reclamation, reforestation, water conservation projects and railroad and road building.

Women Work Hard To Bring Record Vote

If Only Half Their Efforts Yield, New U.S. Mark Assured

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 — (AP)— America has 52 million women of voting age and a record number of them are planning to turn out for the coming presidential election.

It has taken a long time, but now the gals are going full-steam ahead in the campaign to get out the vote. It's a good bet that the candidate who convinces the women is the one who's going to move into the White House next January.

"Women deserve the major credit for today's record registration," says a spokesman for the American Heritage Foundation, a non-partisan, non - profit organization whose job is to coordinate the efforts of the scores of organizations waging individual campaigns to get citizens to the polls.

There are 26 million workers on the job at present, pledged to get out the vote, and most of them are women."

Virtually all the women's organizations in the country are working on intensive campaigns to get voters to the polls Nov. 4.

* * *

IF THEIR PLANS are only 50 per cent effective, we'll have the biggest vote in the history of the nation.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs, for instance, has pledged each of its 11 million members to get 10 of her friends to the polls. The DAR, with 158,000 members, is engaged in the same project.

The Business and Professional Women's Clubs also are working through their organized groups in practically every community.

The Girls Scouts and the Campfire Girls are volunteering as baby sitters for mothers who want to register or vote. The girls, with complete instructions for the job, will even walk the puppy.

It seems that the long and tireless efforts of such organizations as the League of Women Voters are paying off at last.

It has dawned on the nation's women that they haven't lived up to their hard-fought battle for suffrage. Now they're going to put it to work.

Students of the political scene say television may be responsible for much of the new feminine activity. When candidates and issues come right into the living room, they can't be ignored.

During its last visit which lasted almost two years, Halley's comet was at its brightest about May, 1910. It was then a conspicuous object to the naked eye.

JOHN P. FITZPATRICK, group leader in charge of cyclotron operations, stands beside the nation's newest atom-smashing device, a 60-inch constant frequency cyclotron, at the Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago. The device, now in operation, has already exceeded the stringent performance specifications called for in the construction contract. The beam of electrically charged particles which emerges from its acceleration chamber is extremely intense, making it especially suited to the study of nuclear reaction and the production of radio isotopes.

Reds Fighting Job Problems

HONG KONG—(AP) — The Chinese Reds have drafted some of their biggest names for a Labor Employment Committee to deal with the growing unemployment problem. The Communists say that 3 million of China's 450 million population are out of work. The figure may be higher.

The Reds say that unemployment is a heritage of the Chinese Nationalist regime or is caused by Communist production efficiency, the liberation of millions of housewives from their kitchens and the lack of arable land.

Red China is seeking to solve the problem by restrictions on the dismissal of workers, wage changes, shorter hours (to eight and 10 hours daily) and government land reclamation, reforestation, water conservation projects and railroad and road building.

Spartans Back In Lead As Top U.S. Team

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 — (AP)—The combination of Michigan State's one-sided victory over Texas A & M and Ohio State's upset triumph over Wisconsin sent the power-packed Spartans back to the top of the heap in the third weekly Associated Press football poll.

Thirty-nine of the 123 writers who participated in the poll picked Coach Biggie Munn's team for first place.

Wisconsin, which had jumped from eighth to first on the strength of its Oct. 4 win over Illinois, fell to 12th as the result of a 14-23 loss to Ohio State, now ranked 16th.

Maryland's powerful Terrapins moved up from fourth to second place.

Georgia Tech and Duke, the powers of the Southland who meet in a big one Nov. 1, both moved up a notch, with Tech now fourth and the Blue Devils fifth.

The leaders points based on 10 for first, nine for second, and so on, with first-place votes in parentheses:

1. Michigan State (39)	1,026
2. Maryland (31)	961
3. California (21)	889
4. Georgia Tech (4)	704
5. Duke (9)	620
6. Oklahoma (5)	545
7. Southern Cal (2)	367
8. Kansas (1)	319
9. Purdue (0)	304
10. UCLA (0)	203

Baseball Brass Planning For Next Season

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Although football dominates the sports scene these days, major league baseball officials are not hibernating for the winter.

While the Monday morning quarterbacks were replaying Saturday's big pigskin games, baseball's brass quietly went about setting its house in order for the 1953 and future seasons.

The big news of the day was the signing of Casey Stengel as manager of the world champion New York Yankees for two seasons.

Stengel, still celebrating the winning of his fourth straight world championship, was inked for a reported $75,000 per year. In addition, the wrinkled skipper of the champs is expected to derive at least another $25,000 in bonuses to swell his annual take to $100,000 per year.

During the lengthy press session, the Yanks also announced the unconditional release of Charley Keller, 36-year-old former star outfielder of the Bronx Bombers.

Keller, signed for pinch-hitting duties on Sept. 4, struck out in his only time at bat for the Yanks. The big ball hawk was a mainstay on the Yanks' pennant winners of 1939, 1941, 1942, 1943. He was released by the Yanks after the 1939 season and played with Detroit in 1950 and 1951.

Salas Drawing Big Following

CHICAGO, Oct. 14—(AP)—Mexican Luro Salas, the lightweight champion, is far from those who normally give him the old "Viva, Lauro!" but he'll have hundreds of Latin supporters at ringside Wednesday night.

Salas has picked up a terrific following among Mexican and South American-born Chicagoans and is promised a vociferous cheering section for his 15-round title fight with Jimmy Carter in Chicago Stadium.

Halfback Ollie Cline of the Detroit Lions in the National Football League has a strange hobby. He makes bullets.

FOOTBALL FORECAST

Cougars Listed 'Hard Luck Guys'

COLUMBUS, Oct. 14—(AP)—Scout Gene Fekete of Ohio State University thinks the Washington State football team is composed of strictly "hard luck guys" and may give the Buckeyes a lot of trouble in Saturday's game here.

In bowing to Southern California, Stanford and Baylor this season, the Cougars fumbled 14 times and lost the pigskin on eight of these spills. Seven of their passes were intercepted. But Head Coach Woody Hayes isn't forgetting Ohio State's hard luck status in losing to Purdue, 21-14. Several Buckeye fumbles and one pass interception set up the Purdue victory.

Scoring Race Dominated By Two Seniors

Chauncey, Washington C.H. Lads Tally 151, 150 Points So Far

COLUMBUS, Oct. 14 — (AP)—The tightest and gaudiest individual scoring race in Ohio high school football history is on.

Two southern seniors, each 18 years old and weighing 190 pounds, are heading for the 300-point mark and will make it if they keep up their present pace.

Hubert Bob of little Chauncey-Dover in Athens County, last year's pace-setter with 271, is the current leader with 151 for five games, but just a point back, at 150, is Carl Smith of Washington C. H.

Each has 24 touchdowns, but Bobo has added seven conversions to Smith's six. Smith has counted five touchdowns in each of four games, and four in the other, while Bobo's output has ranged from two to seven.

Bobo scored four touchdowns and three extra points in Saturday night's 33-7 win over Belpre, extending Chauncey's unbeaten string to 16. Smith counted five touchdowns and two conversions in the 60-6 romp over previously unbeaten Hillsboro.

THE CHAUNCEY-Dover youngster is winding up a really brilliant scholastic career. In 1949, as a 120-pounder, he scored 15 points. In his first game Pomeroy was a 12-6 winner, but Bobo's 68-yard run produced his team's only points. In 1950 he boosted his output to 185, and then came up with his big 271 last season.

In his four years Chauncey-Dover has won 26, lost seven and tied one, with Bobo getting 712 of his team's 1102 points.

Springfield's high - scoring Wildcats retained their rating as the state's No. 1 team this week after wresting the top position from four-time state champion Massillon a week ago in the Associated Press poll of sports editors.

Jim McDonald's club rolled up its biggest score in 19 years, 61-0, over Cincinnati Woodward, and the state's sports scribes decided that was good enough to stay on top.

Massillon, pushing Springfield to regain the lead, had a tough time taking once-beaten Alliance, 27-21, as Leonard Dawson, Aviator quarterback, passed for two touchdowns, scored a third and made three conversions. A 104 - yard touchdown run by John Francisco and a 75-yarder by Lee Nussbaum, both on kickoff returns, gave the Massillons two fast touchdowns and turned the tide.

Cambridge came up with the week's big upset, handing third-rated Zanesville its first defeat in 29 starts by 20-14, tumbling the Aers to tenth place.

Here's how sports editors rate Ohio's high school football teams this week. First place votes are in parentheses, and also shown are the poll points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis and the season's records:

TEAMS	Points	W-L-T
Springfield (14)	289	5-0-0
Massillon (7)	259	5-0-0
East Liverpool (4) ..	186	4-0-1
Wash. C. H. (1)	135	5-0-0
Dayton Cham. (2) ...	129	5-0-0
Warren (1)	92	4-1-0
Sandusky (0)	90	3-0-2
Alliance (0)	86	3-2-0
Clev. Benedict. (0) ..	76	5-0-0
Zanesville (0)	59	4-1-0

Others: Urbana 51, Middletown 36, Lorain (1) 33, Cincinnati Purcell 26, Mansfield 26, Youngstown Ursuline 24, Columbus St. Charles (2) 20, Canton Lehman 18, Steubenville 17, Fremont Ross 12, Youngstown East 12, Elyria 11, Bellaire 8, East Palestine 8, Girard 7, Hamilton 7, Toronto 7, Van Wert 7, Martins Ferry 6, Brookville 6, Youngstown North 5, Fairfield (Butler) 5, Lima Central 4, Middleport 4, Seven Mile 4, Toledo Libbey 3, Wintersville 3, Forest 3, Cambridge 3, Logan 3, Lancaster 2, Cleveland Collinwood 2, Ashland 2, Cuyahoga Falls 2, Chauncey-Dover 2, Dayton Roosevelt 2, Canton McKinley 1, Akron East 1.

Here is this week's schedule for the top 10 teams:

Springfield (1) vs Hamilton; Massillon (2) vs Mansfield; East Liverpool (3) vs Alliance (8); Washington C. H. (4) vs Wilmington; Dayton Chaminade (5) vs Dayton Kiser (Saturday); Warren (6) vs Cleveland East Tech; Sandusky (7) vs Lorain; Cleveland Benedictine (9) vs Glenville; Zanesville (10) vs Newark.

San Jose State commenced playing football in 1898. Since that time the Spartans have met 76 different opponents.

Spartans Back In Lead As Top U.S. Team

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 — (AP)—The combination of Michigan State's one-sided victory over Texas A & M and Ohio State's upset triumph over Wisconsin sent the power-packed Spartans back to the top of the heap in the third weekly Associated Press football poll.

Thirty-nine of the 123 writers who participated in the poll picked Coach Biggie Munn's team for first place.

Wisconsin, which had jumped from eighth to first on the strength of its Oct. 4 win over Illinois, fell to 12th as the result of a 14-23 loss to Ohio State, now ranked 16th.

Maryland's powerful Terrapins moved up from fourth to second place.

Georgia Tech and Duke, the powers of the Southland who meet in a big one Nov. 1, both moved up a notch, with Tech now fourth and the Blue Devils fifth.

The leaders points based on 10 for first, nine for second, and so on, with first-place votes in parentheses:

1. Michigan State (39)	1,026
2. Maryland (31)	961
3. California (21)	889
4. Georgia Tech (4)	704
5. Duke (9)	620
6. Oklahoma (5)	545
7. Southern Cal (2)	367
8. Kansas (1)	319
9. Purdue (0)	204

Baseball Brass Planning For Next Season

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Although football dominates the sports scene these days, major league baseball officials are not hibernating for the winter.

While the Monday morning quarterbacks were replaying Saturday's big pigskin games, baseball's brass quietly went about setting its house in order for the 1953 and future seasons.

The big news of the day was the signing of Casey Stengel as manager of the world champion New York Yankees for two seasons.

Stengel, still celebrating the winning of his fourth straight world championship, was inked for a reported $75,000 per year. In addition, the wrinkled skipper of the champs is expected to derive at least another $25,000 in bonuses to swell his annual take to $100,000 per year.

During the lengthy press session, the Yanks also announced the unconditional release of Charley Keller, 36-year-old former star outfielder of the Bronx Bombers.

Keller, signed for pinch-hitting duties on Sept. 4, struck out in his only time at bat for the Yanks. The big ball hawk was a mainstay on the Yanks' pennant winners of 1939, 1941, 1942, 1943. He was released by the Yanks after the 1939 season and played with Detroit in 1950 and 1951.

Salas Drawing Big Following

CHICAGO, Oct. 14—(AP)—Mexican Luro Salas, the lightweight champion, is far from those who normally give him the old "Viva, Lauro!" but he'll have hundreds of Latin supporters at ringside Wednesday night.

Salas has picked up a terrific following among Mexican and South American-born Chicagoans and is promised a vociferous cheering section for his 15-round title fight with Jimmy Carter in Chicago Stadium.

Halfback Ollie Cline of the Detroit Lions in the National Football League has a strange hobby. He makes bullets.

THE CHAUNCEY-Dover youngster is winding up a really brilliant scholastic career. In 1949, as a 120-pounder, he scored 15 points. In his first game Pomeroy was a 12-6 winner, but Bobo's 68-yard run produced his team's only points. In 1950 he boosted his output to 185, and then came up with his big 271 last season.

In his four years Chauncey-Dover has won 26, lost seven and tied one, with Bobo getting 712 of his team's 1102 points.

Springfield's high - scoring Wildcats retained their rating as the state's No. 1 team this week after wresting the top position from four-time state champion Massillon a week ago in the Associated Press poll of sports editors.

Jim McDonald's club rolled up its biggest score in 19 years, 61-0, over Cincinnati Woodward, and the state's sports scribes decided that was good enough to stay on top.

Massillon, pushing Springfield to regain the lead, had a tough time taking once-beaten Alliance, 27-21, as Leonard Dawson, Aviator quarterback, passed for two touchdowns, scored a third and made three conversions. A 104 - yard touchdown run by John Francisco and a 75-yarder by Lee Nussbaum, both on kickoff returns, gave the Massillons two fast touchdowns and turned the tide.

Cambridge came up with the week's big upset, handing third-rated Zanesville its first defeat in 29 starts by 20-14, tumbling the Zanesers to tenth place.

Here's how sports editors rate Ohio's high school football teams this week. First place votes are in parentheses, and also shown are the poll points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis and the season's records:

TEAMS	Points	W-L-T
Springfield (14)	269	5-0-0
Massillon (7)	259	5-0-0
East Liverpool (4) ..	186	4-0-1
Wash. C. H. (1)	135	5-0-0
Dayton Cham. (2) ...	129	5-0-0
Warren (1)	92	4-1-0
Sandusky (0)	90	3-0-2
Alliance (0)	86	3-2-0
Clev. Benedict. (0) ..	76	5-0-0
Zanesville (0)	59	4-1-0

Others: Urbana 51, Middletown 36, Lorain (1) 33, Cincinnati Purcell 26, Mansfield 26, Youngstown Ursuline 24, Columbus St. Charles (2) 20, Canton Lehman 18, Steubenville 17, Fremont Ross 12, Youngstown East 12, Elyria 11, Bellaire 8, East Palestine 8, Girard 7, Hamilton 7, Toronto 7, Van Wert 7, Martins Ferry 6, Brookville 6, Youngstown North 5, Fairfield (Butler) 5, Lima Central 4, Middleport 4, Seven Mile 4, Toledo Libbey 3, Wintersville 3, Forest 3, Cambridge 3, Logan 3, Lancaster 2, Cleveland Collinwood 2, Ashland 2, Cuyahoga Falls 2, Chauncey-Dover 2, Dayton Roosevelt 2, Canton McKinley 1, Akron East 1.

Here is this week's schedule for the top 10 teams:

Springfield (1) vs Hamilton; Massillon (2) vs Mansfield; East Liverpool (3) vs Alliance (8); Washington C. H. (4) vs Wilmington; Dayton Chaminade (5) vs Dayton Kiser (Saturday); Warren (6) vs Cleveland East Tech; Sandusky (7) vs Lorain; Cleveland Benedictine (9) vs Glenville; Zanesville (10) vs Newark.

San Jose State commenced playing football in 1898. Since that time the Spartans have met 76 different opponents.

College Grid Card Slated To Be Classy

COLUMBUS, Oct. 14—(AP)—Ohio's collegiate football followers are in for one of the season's classiest programs Saturday.

Ohio State, growing in stature after whipping top-rated Wisconsin 23-14 last week, entertains Washington State in a colorful intersectional contest—one of 10 games Buckeye clubs have on tap with out-of-state squads. Thirteen games between Ohio opponents also are booked.

Adding lustre to the program is the fact that the top-ranked clubs in the Mid-American, Ohio Conference and Mid-Ohio League are due to duel for the leaderships.

The Saturday schedule:

WHEN Dave Ehlers, Muhlenberg college junior from Pottsville, Pa., raced 100 yards for a touchdown in the game against Bucknell he recorded the longest gridiron run of the young season. Ehlers is the leading ground gainer of the Muhlenberg unit. (International)

Cincinnati Signs Coaches For '53

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds have announced the signing of Buster Mills and Ford Garrison as Redleg coaches for the 1953 season.

Mills, who hails from Ranger, Tex., is 44 years old and his major league playing was done with the St. Louis Cardinals, St. Louis Browns, Brooklyn, Boston Red Sox and Cleveland. Garrison, 35, played with the Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics.

The next visit of Halley's comet is expected about 1987.

Clothesline Raiders Nabbed

MISSOULA, Mont. — (AP) — Police here uncovered some boxes and came up with some clean wash, thus apparently solving the mysterious clothesline raids that plagued 12 families.

One of the victims, the commissioner of public safety, looked through the three large boxes of clothes and came up with six of his freshly laundered shirts.

That clinched it for the police. They're holding two teen-age boys.

Midwestern States Being Hit By Hog Disease; Symptons, Advice Detailed

Ailment Requires Diagnosis

At least 14 Midwestern states have been hit by a little-known hog disease called vesicular exanthema.

Swine shows have been canceled, some states have carried out embargoes against shipping in hogs from other states, and hog-raisers have been shouting for information on the disease.

Vesicular exanthema hits only swine and can be easily mistaken for foot-and-mouth disease; in fact, it takes a laboratory test to determine the difference.

Outward symptoms are blisters on the snout, lips, tongue, footpads, and skin between the toes.

Also, infected hogs are sluggish, lose their appetites, are feverish, and lose weight. The first sign is usually failure of the hogs to come for feed, often caused by a lameness.

VESICULAR exanthema is not a drawn-out disease. It hits swiftly and lasts only a short time. Symptoms usually appear within 24 to 28 hours after contact with the virus. Most of the blisters heal quickly, but foot blisters may cause lameness for a couple weeks.

Death rate among mature hogs hit by the disease is low, but the terrific loss of weight makes it costly. There's a heavy death rate among suckling pigs, who suffocate when blisters shut off the air passages.

Raw garbage seems to be the only cause of the disease, but vesicular exanthema is easily spread from animal to animal.

And right now there's no sure control known. The main thing to remember is a strict quarantine of affected hogs.

They should not be sold for feeding or breeding purposes. Your veterinarian should be called immediately when you suspect an outbreak among your hogs.

It's necessary to disinfect your barn after the appearance of any other contagious disease in the building—Bang's, shipping fever, or ringworm, for instance.

First, remove all surplus filth and manure. Then apply the disinfectant to the floor, walls and fixtures, rubbing it in well with a broom. Work with gloves on, and be sure the quarters are dry before re-admitting animals.

For most diseases, a solution of a pound of lye in 15 gallons of hot water will do the job. In the case of tuberculosis, a special government-approved disinfectant should be used.

See your veterinarian for the proper solution and further advice on application.

GIs Get Served Breakfast In Bed

TRIESTE, Oct. 14—(AP)—Into the enlisted men's barracks of the U. S. armed forces in Trieste these mornings there tip-toes an officer. He draws back the blinds, gently awakes the soldiers—and serves them breakfast in bed.

And what's more — the soldiers get to pick which officer has to do it. It's part of the Army's Fund drive here. Every enlisted man who contributed $10 gets breakfast in bed for a week.

Money is pouring in.

Court To Rule On Gambling Tax

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 — (AP)—The U. S. Supreme Court has agreed to rule on the validity of the new federal law requiring gamblers to buy a $50 tax stamp.

The ruling will be given on an appeal by the Justice Department from a decision by U. S. District Judge George A. Welsh in Philadelphia that the law in unconstitutional. The tax law went into effect Nov. 1, 1951. Welsh said the revenue features of the statute were a valid exercise of federal taxing power.

2 Military Men Held By Police

COLUMBUS, Oct. 14 — (AP)—The U. S. Secret Service has arrested two members of the armed forces in connection with the theft and forgery of government checks.

The men are Airman 3-C Melvin J. Parr, 30, of Lockbourne Air Force Base, and S-Sgt. Donald R. Hoffman, 25, of the Reserve Officers Training Corps unit at Ohio State University. Parr is accused of stealing and cashing three checks totaling $308. Hoffman is accused of stealing and forging one $27 check.

Taxes Seen Top Problem In U.S.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 14—(AP)—Harold S. Myers of Toledo, president of the Ohio Savings and Loan League, says taxes always will be the greatest problem of any progressive nation.

He told delegates of the league's 64th annual convention in Columbus taxes will continue to mount "as long as we depend more and more on the federal government for functions which rightfully belong to individuals and private business."

Garner Gives His Support To Stevenson

DALLAS, Oct. 14—(AP)—The pencil-scrawled note from rugged old John N. (Cactus Jack) Garner Monday bolstered Texas Democrats battling to keep the state in line for Adlai Stevenson.

The former vice president, one-time power in national and state politics, wrote House Speaker Sam Rayburn here that he would vote the Democratic ticket Nov. 4 from top to bottom. It was Garner's first public dip into politics since he retired as vice president more than a decade ago.

Rayburn released Garner's scribbled announcement one day ahead of Dwight D. Eisenhower's invasion of this Democratic stronghold. The Garner statement was quickly discounted by Republican leaders busy with last-minute plans for Eisenhower's campaign swing through his native state starting Tuesday.

Stevenson follows Eisenhower to Texas with speeches at Ft. Worth and Dallas Friday and in San Antonio and Houston Saturday.

Rayburn came back to Texas to ramrod the Democratic battle after the party's state convention under Gov. Allan Shivers' leadership repudiated Stevenson and urged all Democrats to work and vote for Eisenhower.

Escaped Trio Back In Jail

FLINT, Mich., Oct. 14—(AP)—Three ex-convicts were returned to their cells in the Flint City Jail today ending one of Michigan's most intensive manhunts.

The three, Clifford Billings, 34; and Claude Smith, 23, and his brother Lewis, 22, were recaptured yesterday.

They escaped Sunday from City Jail, gaining their release by forcing turnkey Marvin Besteman to accompany them. Besteman, held at gunpoint throughout the fugitives' short-lived fredom, escaped unharmed.
